By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Lebanese government has informed Moscow that Soviet warships will be welcome in Lebanon and told the U.S. 6th Fleet to keep out, newspapers in Beirut said today. But authorities declined to confirm the reports.

The reports said the government told the Soviet Union that Russian ships could visit Beirut if Moscow asked. The Soviet fleet, believed to total about 50 ships in the Mediterranean, has never visited Lebanon.

The right-wing newspapers Al Nahar and Al Jarida said Premier Abdulla Yafi expressed the view that U.S. Navy ships would be an welcome because of Washington's recent decision to sell 50 Phantom jets to Israel. This would be a reversal of Lebanon's traditional pro-Western policy.

In Cairo, the authoritative newspaper Al Ahran said President Gamal Abdel Nasser has endorsed Jordanian King Hussein's call for an Arab summit meeting.

The paper said Nasser sent Hussein a message signifying agreement.

Arab League scours said, however, that only 6 of the 15 Arab states have so far expressed any enthusiasm for such a meeting. They are Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Sudan, Kuwait and Yemen.

Israeli anger at the world's concern for Lebanon increased. Foreign Minister Abba Eban assailed the U.N. Security Council and the Sephardic chief rabbi criticized Pope Paul VI.

Meanwhile, the once quiet Lebanese-Israeli border erupted again in an artillery duel Thursday night, and the Big Four powers continued talking about a Soviet proposal for joint peace action.

Chief Rabbi Yitzhak Nissim, head of Israel's Sephardic community, criticized the Pope in his message to Lebanon expressing sympathy for the loss of 13 commercial aircraft destroyed by the Israeli commando raid on Beirut airport last Saturday.

In a broadcast over the state radio, Rabbi Nissim said the Pope had kept silent after the Nov. 22 bombing that killed 13 Israelis in a Jerusalem market and after the Dec. 26 Arab attack on an El Al airliner in Athens in which one Israeli died.

71 SeMo Men Appointed Colonels by Governor

Hearnes To Appoint New Judge Housing Meeting Thursday

NEW MADRID -- Jesse Wilkins, county clerk, said today Gov. Warren Hearnes is expected to appoint a person to fill the two-year unexpired term of Magistrate Judge Erie Wright, who died Wednesday in a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Wilkins said the appointment is usually made following the recommendation of the county Democrat Committee.

R.L. Saalwaechter, Portageville, is committee chairman.

Wilkins explained the position has to be filled either by an attorney or a former justice of the peace. An interim judge could be appointed until until Hearnes makes his appointment.

Police Report Two Thefts.

Two Arrests

C. C. Lancaster, Poplar Bluff, an agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, reported to police Thursday that two large pieces of 12-inch galvanized pipe valued at $140 were taken within the past two weeks from railroad right-of-way across from the Imperial Bowling Lanes.

Ray Patterson, Bell City, reported to police Thursday that four guns were stolen from his house in a break-in Tuesday night. The theft was reported to the sheriff of Stoddard County. Guns taken included a 12 gauge Browning automatic shotgun, a 30.06 Remington rifle, a 410 shotgun and a 22 caliber rifle.

In other activity, Cuma M. Chism, 41, 711 East Gladys, was charged Thursday night with driving while intoxicated. The automobile she was driving was involved in an accident at 8:58 p.m. on East Malone near Dona Street with a car driven by Gary Clark, 37, Monroe, La. No one was injured, police reported.

Glen F. Clark, Sikeston, was charged Thursday with public intoxication.

Ice Causes Injuries

Icy highways accounted for the only injuries in the area when two cars collided on hill Thursday at 11:10 p.m., on highway 61, three miles south of Jackson.

A 1961 Chrysler, driven by Helen Marie Evans, 34, Illinois, and a 1963 Ford, driven by Russell Clyde Cook Jr., 24, Patton, met head-on on an ice covered hill.

The Evans woman received cuts on her forehead and possible chest injuries. Cook received cuts on his forehead and possible chest injuries.

Fire Damages Matthews Home

MATTHEWS-Interior and contents of Mrs. Ruth Frost's home were heavily damaged yesterday when a living room couch caught fire and sent flames up the wall.

Firemen were called about 6 p.m. to extinguish the fire. They reported heavy smoke and water damage.

Mrs. Frost, a widow, has four children.

The house is located near the park at the south edge of Matthews.

JESSE H. WILKINS, New Madrid County Clerk, left, gave the oath of office yesterday to officials elected in November. From left, Wilkins, J. Preston Utterbake, assessor, John H. Calvin, county court judge of the first district, Hal E. Hunter Jr., prosecuting attorney, J. H. Workman Jr., county court judge of the second district, W. L. Ramsey Jr., sheriff. Judge Calvin begins his second term, Judge Workman, his third term, Ramsey, his fourth term, Hunter, his fourth term and Utterbake, his fifth term of office. Other elected officials not shown are Leo Hedgepeth, coroner, W.H. Ice, surveyor and Gene Curtis, public administrator.

Kennedy, Scott Win Senate Whip Posts as 91st Congress Opens

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts won his bid to become the Senate's assistant Democratic leader as the 91st Congress opened today.

The Republicans also chose a new man.

Just before Kennedy unseated Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania was chosen by Republicans as assistant minority leader - "whip" - over conservative Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska.

By a 31 to 26 vote of a Democratic caucus, the youngest and only surviving Kennedy brother snatched a victory which could speed his way to the White House.

The House settled its leadership problems Thursday with predictable results as Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeated the unprecedented challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won re-election unopposed as minority leader.

The top Senate posts in each party landed in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who were unopposed.

In an 11th hour challenge, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin announced for the chairmanship of the Republican Policy Committee but lost to Colorado's Gordon Allott.

Although the position has declined in influence in recent years, Robert A. Taft once used it in his climb to Senate power. With leadership contests and other formalities out of the way, the House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election and it takes only one objection returns, then turn to an array of issues that could provide early fireworks.

Both houses have before edge in the Senate, said in them a proposal to raise their own pay and the salaries of top federal officers including the President.

The House may have to grapple with the problem of whether to seat New York's Adam Clayton Powell, ousted in 1967 after being accused of misusing federal funds.

President Johnson is expected to press hard for early Senate action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, but that chamber could get bogged down first in the biennial and always controversial move to moderate the filibuster rule that requires a two-thirds vote to limit debate.

Even the usually routine canvass of presidential returns could provide a spark or two.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., said they will ask Congress Monday to reject a North Carolina electoral vote cast for third party candidate George C. Wallace and award it to Nixon. Nixon carried North Carolina, but because of the switch got only 12 of the state's 13 votes.

The pair said they wanted to "insure the integrity of this election ... and to effectively dramatize the danger of continuing to operate under this outmoded, haphazard and undemocratic method of electing a president."

The Powell issue is the thorniest facing the House. Powell has twice been reelected by his Harlem district since he was denied his seat in the 90th Congress.

Some Republicans are planning to move to seat the New Yorker this time but fine him $40,000, strip him of seniority the House and censure him. Others said they flatly oppose seating him canvass presidential election and it takes only one objection to force a roll call.

Democrats, holding a 243-192 majority in the House and 57-43 in the Senate, said in advance of the 1969 session they would try to co-operate with Nixon.

But there were frequent warnings that he could lose their support across the board if Republicans tried to scuttle Great Society programs.

The pay raise proposal would provide a $50,000 increase for Nixon, making his salary $150,000. It would have to be passed by both House and Senate and signed into law before he takes the oath Jan. 20 or he would not be eligible for it until and unless he wins a second term.

This would help to pave the way for a substantial pay raise for members of Congress and other high government officials expected to be recommended by President Johnson.

A special commission has proposed to Johnson that senators and representatives be hiked from $30,000 to $50,000. He will make his recommendations when he submits his budget in about two weeks.

Senate leaders also have said they expect early action on ratification of the treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons, a piece of business hanging over from the 1968 session.

But opponents of the pact may seek further hearings by the Foreign Relations Committee. Besides re-electing Ford as minority leader House Republicans again chose Illinois' Leslie Arends as whip.

Democrats returned Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Hale Boggs of Louisiana to the majority leader and whip posts.

The House Democratic Caucus gave McCormack 178 votes to 58 for Udall and four for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., a noncandidate who seconded McCormack's nomination.

The liberal bloc backing the 46-year-old Udall against the 77-year-old McCormack had some comfort in their unexpectedly heavy defeat.

The caucus and leadership adopted some points Udall and others have pressed for.

There will be monthly meetings of the caucus, giving rank and file members a chance to express themselves on policies. An August vacation recess was promised, as well as more definite scheduling of periodical holiday breaks, so that members may make speaking and visiting commitments in their districts.

Committee appointments made by the Democratic committee on committees will be submitted to the full caucus.

House Republicans had only one major leadership contest - for chairman of the House Republican Conference, a post greatly increased in importance while it was held by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin secretary of defense-designate.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois won it, handily defeating Reps. Jackson E. Betts of Ohio and Albert H. Quie of Minnesota.

Goza is Foreman Of Grand Jury

BLOOMFIELD--H.L. "Hutson" Goza, prominent Stoddard County farmer, was named foreman yesterday of the grand jury which convened.

Goza was named by Circuit Judge William Billings as he was reading a lengthy charge to jurors.

In his charge, Judge Billings said the jury traditionally has a two-fold purpose: namely to determine whether prosecution

Nursing Home Plans Approved

Preliminary plans for a proposed 120-bed nursing home to be constructed by Collins Brothers in Sikeston have been reviewed and approved by the State Health Department.

The center is to be constructed and owned by Gene and Bud Collins. It will be built opposite the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic on Plaza Drive.

Contact drawings and specifications are now being prepared by Donnellan & Porterfield Architects of Poplar Bluff. Construction is scheduled to begin this spring.

should proceed against individuals and "to indict and bring to trial persons you believe have eviolated the law," and secondly, "it is your function to protect and exonerate citizens from unfounded accusations, either from officials or prompted by partisan passion or private enmity."

Specifically Judge Billings set forth several charges for the jury to investigate:

1-Failure of assessor and other officers to administer oath relating to the assessment of property.

2-Inquire into the 1968 primary election regarding provisions of the corrupt practices act.

3-The sale of liquor to minors.

4-The operation of any gaming devices in the county, including slot machines.

Judge Billings set forth a host of other fields in which the jury is required by law to investigate and report.

The judge cautioned jurors that all deliberations are secret, and that they are not to divulge any of the proceedings or findings, and that witnesses are to be cautioned not to reveal any of the jury's activities.

148 on Hijacked Plane

MIAMI (AP) - A giant Eastern Airlines stretch-jet with 148 persons aboard landed at Havana today under orders of a hijacker who took command of the nonstop New York-Miami flight.

Two Eastern turboprop planes were ordered to the airport at Varadero, Cuba, to retrieve the kidnaped passengers but no time for the flight was set, according to John Graffius, acting area manager for the Federal Aviation Administration.

In Havana, the Swiss Embassy said the passengers spent the night at a nearby-deserted airport and would be returned today to U.S. soil. All aboard were reported in good condition.

The hijacked jet, which landed in Havana at 1:05 a.m. EST, was the first plane hijacked to Cuba this year. Last year there were 20 successful hijackings to Cuba, 13 of them from the United States.

Easter said its DC-8-61, largest commercial jetliner in America carrying 140 passengers and eight crew members left New York's Kennedy Airport at 9:52 p.m. Thursday and was due in Miami at 12:30 a.m.

About an hour before Flight 401 was scheduled to land at Miami International Airport, Capt. Dennis Vanhuss radioed the Federal Aviation Administration at Jacksonville, Fla. FAA supervisor Harold Jensen said Vanhuss reported, "I am going to Havana."

The plane at that point was 60 miles east of Jacksonville. There was no immediate word on what went on aboard the plane.

Most hijackings have featured a man with a gun, who threatened a crew member and ordered the pilot to fly to Havana. None has resisted.

The FAA said the Eastern plane was cleared direct to Cuba soon after the hijacking was reported.

In addition to Vanhuss, the crew included First Officer J.R. Cooper and Second Officer T.F. Walby in the cockpit, all based in New York.

Stewardesses, working out of Miami, were Nancy Wilson, Kathy Geronimo, Linda Abolt, Kathy McCormick and Catherine Tolan.

After landing in Cuba, hijacked planes usually are flown to Miami by the crew while passengers go by bus to Varadero - a three-hour ride and are picked up there by planes sent from Florida.

The last previous hijacking to Cuba, also an Eastern plane, was on Dec. 19, 1968, when a jet flying nonstop from Philadelphia to Miami was diverted.

On Thursday the FBI at Miami filed a complaint naming Thomas George Washington, 27, of Gary, Ind., as its hijacker.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
ZAP! UGH! AARGH!

The children's hour arrives earlier in the day than a century ago, when Longfellow described it as falling "Between the dark and the daylight,/When the night is beginning to lower." Today, as young parents with television sets know, the children's hour starts at 8 a.m. Saturday morning and lasts until noon or even later. That time period is reserved by the three TV networks for a succession of half-hour cartoon shows with such titles as "Underdog," "Spiderman," and "Batman-Superman Hour."

Two of these shows - NBC's "Birdman" and "Super President" - will be dropped on Saturday, Jan. 4. Both had been criticized as being poorly animated and excessively violent. And neither was particularly popular. Their replacements will be a filmed show about live animals and a children's version of an adult quiz show.

Press critic Ben. H. Bagdikian recently told the President's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence that violence on television and in comic strips "has contributed to the widespread disrespect for law and law enforcement among the young." Comic books are in fact considerably gorier in depicting violence than are TV cartoon shows. But television cartoons make the more vivid impression because they are animated. Even some of the strictly-for-laughs kiddies' cartoons have been attacked as over-violent. Sam Blum, writing in the NEW YORK TIMES MAGAZINE (Dec. 8, 1968), described an episode of "Bugs Bunny-Road Runner" which involved "animals dropping anvils on each other, hitting each other with hammers, firing guns at each other, attempting to poison each other, blowing each other up and tricking each other so that they fall off high places."

Children's cartoon programming seems as subject to changes in audience taste as any other area of television. The recent craze for super-hero and monster cartoons began in the 1966-67 season. Before then, the field had been dominated by the "Bullwinkle" genre. The super-heroes are now being retired, partly because of the general outcry against violence on television. Another reason is that the kids simply were getting sick of them.

Public administrator Robert H. Decker had reason to believe that there is no more independence in politics than there is in jail.

Too many drivers act as if they were monarch of all they survey.

NEWSBEAT

Riesel Only Newsman to Predict Unknown as Nixon's Sec. of Labor

For weeks now, virtually everyone has been playing the name game with President-elect Nixon's cabinet. Long lists of names filled endless stories on just who would be named to the vital policy-making post of Secretary of Labor.

But one name always was missing from the inside stories. It was that of George P. Shultz, who will be Secretary of Labor.

But your columnist Victor Riesel did not play the name game. He was the only correspondent who reported that Prof. Shultz could have the post if he wanted it. And he wanted it.

Victor Riesel did a study in depth on Dean Shultz on Nov. 26. That was a clean national newsbeat by three full weeks, written when virtually all on this beat ignored Mr. Shultz, or had never heard of him.

This is not the first time Mr. Riesel's sources here and abroad and his continent hopping have put him well ahead of the field. Quietly, your columnist Riesel racks up almost a national newsbeat a week. He was weeks ahead, for example, in reporting that Hubert Humphrey had offered the Democratic vice presidential nomination to Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

He was weeks ahead when he filed the inside story of Tom Hayden's plans to disrupt Chicago and the Democratic National Convention. Riesel filed this from Chicago.

He has been weeks ahead on reports of national walkouts.

Sometimes Riesel's newsbeats run months ahead of the field. On Feb. 2, he was the first to report in detail the plans of the management movement to challenge the labor movement. The story has been corroborated by frontpage reports for the good part of the year - and the management movement became the issue in the final hours of the presidential campaign.

Nor is it different on the foreign front. Just to cite an example, among many, there is his report from Rome, filed on July 7. "Insiders expect student-worker riots to sweep Italy this fall," he wrote. And they did, in the past two weeks.

Thus month after month, Victor Riesel is either well ahead of vital news, or right atop it.

What awful stories were told by the whites about Indians and their tomahawks! But have you ever heard the stories the Indians tell about us? They say we robbed them without mercy, shot them down like dogs, etc. There is always plenty of talk about being robbed on both sides.

HOARDING LICENSE PLATES

One of the bugs that has developed in connection with Missouri's new automobile inspection laws grows out of the failure of the patronage-staffed Department of Revenue to adjust to the new reality. The law requires that vehicles must pass safety inspection tests within 30 days before new plates are issued. Persons needing new plates in January, when the law becomes effective, are free to have their cars inspected now, and many are doing so. But the Revenue Department is refusing to sell them the new plates now, holding to the bureaucratic rule that

January plates are sold only in January.

Accordingly, a person who had his car inspected early in December would as a practical matter have only the early part of January to obtain the new plates, or have to face the needless cost and inconvenience of inspection a second time. The Revenue Department ought to sell plates as soon as the vehicles pass the safety test. Automotive safety, not driver frustration, is supposed to be the aim of this whole business.

Only three Presidents have come directly from Congress. They were James A. Garfield and Warren G. Harding, both senators from Ohio, and John F. Kennedy, senator from Massachusetts.

"...A thousand young people across the U.S. were asked: If a disaster struck, what one book would you save? They overwhelmingly answered: 'The Bible.' The Bible received four times as many votes as the two closest runners-up: the dictionary and the novel," remarks Timely Items published by the Public Service Company of Colorado.

After listening to numerous members of the Associated Press at a recent meeting in Kansas City, the consensus seemed to be that an informed public is not likely to tolerate complacency around it for long, especially when it affects security.

Thus, the steadily-growing awareness in the West of the spreading menace of Communist Russia has already generated enough pressure to jolt the NATO leaders into restoring discipline and paying overdue attention to the "cracks and flaws" to the military establishment in their control.

And if you've read the newspapers, you'll note that the alerting of the public to the insidious moves and intrigues of the Soviet Union have aroused howls of anger from Moscow laterally.

Latest expose was the Russian-Algerian conspiracy which deals with allowing a Russian naval base and the installation of rocket pads on Algerian territory. Such reports, said Moscow, were "distorting the peace-loving policy" of the Soviet Union on the Mediterranean.

Missourians should know that only seven per cent of your Christmas Seal dollar goes outside Missouri.

DON'T LET BIG CORPORATION 'PROFITS' FOOL YOU

In practically every labor demand for higher wages these days is the statement, "You can still hold the price level steady by paying our wage increase out of profits." Let's see:

For a company to stay alive and so provide jobs at all it must keep its equipment modern. To do that, the company must earn two times as much profit as before the war, there's why-

First, out of the less than half that's left, the company pays for new machinery it must have to stay alive - machinery at prices made higher by higher and higher wages over past years.

Out of anything the company can keep, it must save for expansion (or else no new jobs can be created) and pay something to the owners, without which the company and its jobs would never have been in existence at all. (Average dividend payments to owners of U. S. companies, by the way, is 3 1/4% return... they could make more, with no risk, leaving their money in the bank.)

So when big "profit" figures are displayed in headlines, read the facts in the fine print. Unless profit is 2 times pre-war, the company can't hope to live. And killing companies kills jobs.

Warner & Swasey

It is a sign of extreme youth to want to wear one's best clothes all the time, and of approaching old age to wear old clothes and put new ones away to save them.

If a newspaper, in a death notice, gives the age of the deceased too low, a great many people call attention to it. In the obituary of a Sikeston woman, her age was given as 58. Scores of people the next day stopped reporters to say the woman must have been much older than that. Her age was given by members of her family.

It makes a careless man mad when he loses a thing, and makes a fuss, and a careful person finds the lost article right before his eyes.

A Sikeston woman once gave a party and offered prizes for correct guesses on what it cost her and what her husband said about it.

The farmer had borrowed a bull from a neighbor to service his two cows. He put the beast in the pasture and instructed his son to keep an eye on them. "As soon as the bull has finished you come up to the house and tell me," he said.

When the farmer got back to the house, he found the Reverend there paying a social call. They were seated in the front room sipping tea when the boy burst in the door.

Greatly embarrassed, the farmer took his son outside. "Is double-breasted models showing that any way to talk in front of the Reverend?" he demanded. The very time Fish's son, Hamilton Fish, Jr., was running for Congress on the republican ticket in the 28th District of New York.

Since young Fish's margin was close--two per cent over democrat John Dyson--it's possible the Israeli award was the deciding factor in Fish's victory.

The irony is that Ham Fish was a great defender of the Hitler regime when in Congress, and rented his home in Manhattan to the Nazi consul general. He was one of the originators of the house unamerican activities committee, and conducted various witch-hunts against liberals, meanwhile intruding statements in the congressional record favorable to such fascist organizations as the silver shirts.

Fish was also a leader of the America firsters, strongly opposed American involvement in the war against Hitler, voted against the draft and other measures to prepare for the war. Hans Thompson, German Charge D'Affaires in those pre-war years, sent a dispatch to foreign minister Ribbentrop in Berlin describing Fish as giving him great help. The same Thompson described Drew Pearson to Ribbentrop as "one of the negative newspaper influences" as far as Nazi German was concerned.

To carry out the old testament doctrine of an eye-for-an-eye punishment fr those who attack or sabotage Israel. Yet the long range aftermaths could be serious.

Already there are indications of two important repercussions:

1. The hardening of the Anti-Israel opinion in the moderate Arab world.

2. Loss of Israeli goodwill in the United States. If the eye-for-an-eye policy were adopted by Washington, it's pointed out, we would have bombed Jordan in retaliation for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy by a Jordanian citizen in Los Angeles.

Regarding the first, Lebanon has always been considered one of the more moderate Arab states, in fact the only moderate state on Israel's borders. Lebanon's population is almost 50 per cent Christian, and not as hostile toward the Jews as moslem Arabs.

NEGOTIATING FROM STRENGTH

Our country's best military men know that we have not done all we could to win the war in Vietnam. It is a mistake to believe that our only alternative is to agree to unacceptable terms, such as a coalition government including the Viet Cong for South Vietnam.

Our negotiators at the "peace talks in Paris should inform the communists that additional military action can e forthcoming if the freedom of South Vietnam is not guaranteed.

Recently the Air Force Association, made up of military experts, presented a report which outlines military alternatives still available to the United States. If these recommendations were followed, the communists would be forced to come to terms which would be acceptable to our South Vietnamese allies.

The Association listed three major steps which our forces in Vietnam could take:

"1. An end to sanctuaries in North Vietnam.

"2. The denial of seaborne imports to North Vietnam by appropriate application of air and naval power.

"3. Coordination of the above with a sustained air and ground offensive against the forces of North Vietnam and those of the Viet Cong."

The second point especially deserves careful consideration by the United States government. As long as the ports of North Vietnam remain open to receive supplies, the communists will be able to carry on the war. A blockade of these ports would involve little loss of life, but would significantly reduce the aggressive capability of the enemy.

If the bombing pause does not soon lead to a just treaty with adequate safeguards for the freedom of South Vietnam, these additional military steps should be taken. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

EXCLUSIVE: Walter Reuther Privately Confers with Marshal Tito

Washington, D.C. - Workers of several worlds appear to have united in Yugoslavia's presidential palace on the morning of Thursday, Dec. 12, there, Marshal Josip Broz Tito, refused to compromise with the president of the Republic of Yugoslavia, received red-headed Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers.

Belgrade had not seen anything such as this gathering of the successful proletariat. There in the capital of that Socialist nation, Marshal Tito and President Reuther had a long and friendly talk. Both were pleased. Both talked as sophisticated knowledgeable in the ways of old and new movements.

For another six days, Reuther ambled through Yugoslavia's garden spots. On Dec. 18, he flew to the U.S. On the night of Dec. 19, he was in New York. On the morning of the 20th, he spoke long and privately with President-elect Richard Nixon.

It is reported by the usual "authoritative," albeit anonymous, sources that Mr. Nixon and Mr. Reuther did discuss the conversation between the leader of Yugoslavia's government and League of Communists) and Mr. Reuther. It's all packaged in a silence which is unusually tight, even for the New York skyscraper induction "White House." But here Mr. Nixon is on sensitive eggshells.

Walter Reuther is the first American labor leader to "recognize" Marshal Tito and the Yugoslav union federation. The Yugoslav labor "movement," housed in a fortress-type building on a Belgrade square, is considered by George Meany and the AFL-CIO to be a section of the world Communist organization, even if it is a dissenting one.

Virtually all of America's labor chiefs agree with the implacable George Meany, whose pulsating attacks on Communists' intercontinental operations have made his broad back the target of intense Moscow and Peking propaganda blasts for decades.

Such blasts have come from the Marshal Tito's labor movement as well. Belgrade has been stung by Mr. Meany's frequent charges that Yugoslav unions merely are agencies to speed up production

January Means Beginning New Arrivals

BY MARGARET DuBOIS

The name January is derived from Roman mythology, meaning Janus, the god who was guardian of portals and patron of beginnings and endings.

January is the beginning of the new year with new hopes, new goals, and of course - those new year resolutions.

Most women promise themselves to be a little more patient with the children, more understanding with their husbands, and to allow themselves more time for that special project, such as reading those books they have been collecting for years, but haven't had time to read, or maybe knitting that afghan they have wanted, or perhaps joining an art class. Whatever a woman's goal is, this is the time of year to start planning and believing again. You can do it this year.

The only thing wrong with new year resolutions is that we can't avoid looking back and surveying last year's resolutions. That could be bad for the morale, or encouraging for this year's promises, depending on how many we kept.

We have a tendency to count the accomplishments, and minimize the mistakes, but hoping we have learned enough to avoid these same mistakes again.

Personally I consider myself lucky. I don't have to make a list of resolutions this year. I have my list from last year unused and good as new. Now if I can just find them

The Gospel Visitor From Mini To Medieval

THE MISSION OF THE CHURCH
In Matthew 16:18, is recorded the promise of Christ, that He would build His church. And on the day of Pentecost, three thousand souls gladly received the word of God, and were baptized, and added to the church that day. (Acts 2:41). Thus, Jesus kept His promise and the church had its beginning on earth, on the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Christ from the dead, in the city of Jerusalem. The very existence of the church on earth indicates loose medieval garment. That it has a purpose. We don't need to guess as to the purpose and mission of the church, for it is clearly revealed to us in the Bible. Luke's Catholic elementary church is by no means an accident, it is the result of God's housewife who teaches at St. eternal purpose. It is a divine arrangement, with a divine purpose. Luke's Catholic elementary church was planned by human wisdom, brought into existence by human will, and ruled by human authority. The manifestation of said Thursday - on the second God's wisdom, which had remained a mystery and in the very day - is 'the most practical thing of the church' (Eph. 3:8-10). This was the purpose and women ever wore.

plan of God from eternity. (Eph. 3:11) God then, is the supreme architect of the church. The pattern is divine, the result of divine watching the church at St. Luke's wisdom and planning. It is ruled by divine will and authority. All in their long habits. Hers is a authority belongs to Christ. (Matt. 28:18-20). He is the head over floor-length - loose - bell-sleeved "all things to the church", no other authority in the church but affair in bright print, cinched in His. (Eph. 1:18-23). Whatever the church is and does, Christ must at the waist with a leather belt. Over this, she has a bright green. Because she has two babies in her arms. There are no zippers, snaps or buttons.

There is a divine plan for the church in accomplishing God's purposes. Ephesians 4:11, "And He gave some: " (1) Apostles and prophets - Theirs was the work of revelation, making known the will of God, to man. We have their work preserved by the orators. (2) Evangelists - Theirs was the work of spreading the gospel, making known the will of God, to man. We have their work preserved by the orators. (3) Pastors and teachers - Their work was within the church, making known the will of God, to man. We have their work preserved by the orators. (4) Those who were charged with while tending to a mother's the performance of these tasks in the early church were given chores.

"gifts" to make it possible for them to function according to the divine will, until revelation was complete. Ephesians 4: verse 8 - "When He ascended up on high He gave gifts unto men." verse 11 - "He gave some apostles," etc.; verse 13 - "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." This denotes the completeness of revelation.

The church has been given a divine program of work or activity. Ephesians 4:12. (1) "For the perfecting of the Saints." - The word "perfecting" signifies to place the parts of any machine or body, in their proper order and to unite them in such a manner as to render the machine or body complete. This is then what we call the work of edifying the body - the work of educating or training Christians in right living and acceptable service to God. (2) "For the work of the ministry." - Here "ministry" comes from a word which is translated both ministers and serve. Serve is the idea. It includes ministering to the poor but is in no wise limited to that. A limitation in the church's duty to minister is found in our Scriptures. (3) "Unto the building up of the body of Christ." - This is the same word employed by Christ in Matthew 16:18 - "build My church". Paul evidently uses it here in the sense of plant, establish where it is not known, enlarge the borders by bringing others into it through preaching of the gospel. It sets forth that a primary work of the church is evangelizing the world with the gospel. Next week: What the mission of the church is not.

SAIPAN (AP) - Bringing modern airline service to the remote Pacific has its light moments. A Micronesian chief recently boarded an Air Micronesia aircraft for a trip to another island. Feeling uncomfortably warm while waiting for take-off, he solved the problem simply by taking off all his clothes. The embarrassed stewardess escaped into the cockpit until the chief was sufficiently cooled down to put his clothes on again.

In absence of the old pro crystal ball caller, the second string desktop cager will have to take over. The celebrated swami has succumbed to the flu and in his place is his first place flunky. For my first act, I'm going to charge in on tonight's games.

Kelly vs. Ilmo-Scott City - Okay, with Kelly making it way to Scott City, they should be pretty tired by the time they get there. I see the Ilmo-Scott City Rams taking this one in a close battle. The scores will be tight, 48-43.

North Pemiscot vs. Richland - Now we come to a real game. This is the kind I hate to predict. North Pemiscot will be going to Essex to meet one of the toughest teams in this area, the Richland Rebels. North Pemiscot has yet to be downed, and I think its record will survive the weekend. The foggy ball shows North Pemiscot coming from behind in the fourth to take the game, 67-64.

Oran vs. St. Henry's - The top team in the area, the Oran Eagles will host St. Henry's of Charleston. Oran will also survive the weekend with a perfect record. The score 88-56. New Madrid vs. Lilbourn - Lilbourn should be the victors of this confrontation, taking the win in stride with the final score, 63-41.

Greenville vs. Broseley - Broseley will have a battle, but it should be able to pull this one out of the fire, 49-42.

Chaffee vs. Advance - Advance should be in top form, recovering loss in the Bloomfield Tournament. As the fog starts to rise in my borrowed crystal ball, I can make out what appears to be a victory for the Advance cagers, final on that, 62-49.

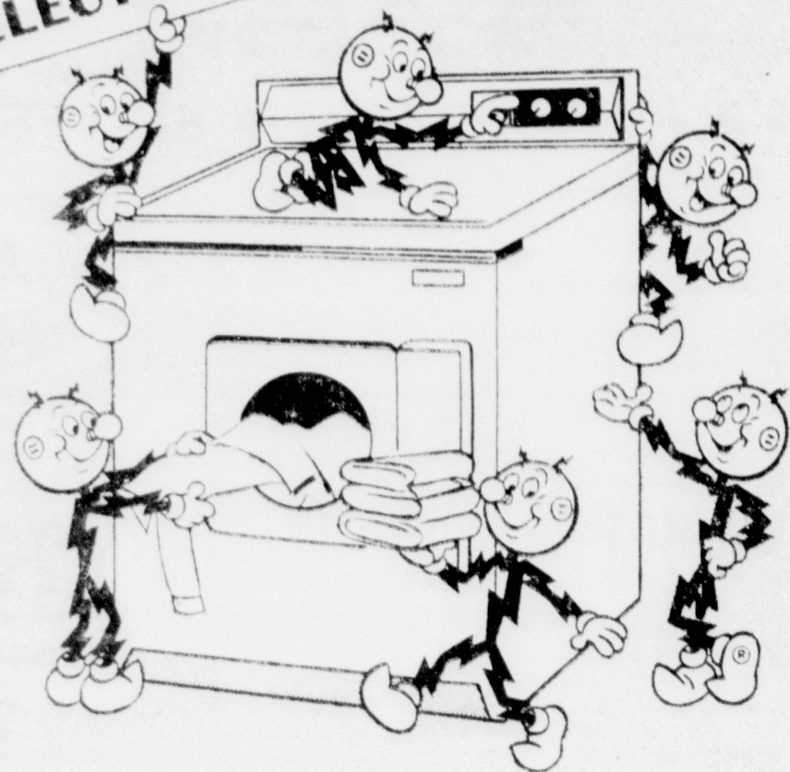

Fist vs. Puxico - Puxico showed what it had in the Bloomfield Tournament, getting into the semi-finals before losing to Sikeston. I can faintly make out a victory for Puxico with a score of what appears to be

Bullets Land Third Man on All-Star Unit

NEW YORK (AP) - The Baltimore Bullets, now leading the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association after finishing at the bottom last season, have placed the maximum three players on the division's team for the All-Star Game at Baltimore Jan. 14.

Forward Gus Johnson of the Bullets, center-forward Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, and guards Hal Greer of Philadelphia and Jon McGlocklin of Milwaukee, were named to the All-Star team today.

They were the selections of the coaches. The first eight players of the 12-man squad were picked by sports writers and sportscasters in the franchise cities.

The last four players for the West's squad will be announced Saturday night.

Originally picked for the East were guard Earl Monroe and center Wes Unseld of Baltimore, forward Jerry Lucas and guard Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, forward John Havlicek and center Bill Russell of Boston, guard Dave Bing of Detroit and forward Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia.

Unseld, a rookie, and Monroe, McGlocklin and Cunningham will play in the All-Star Game for the first time.

The East will be coached by Baltimore's Gene Shue. His starting team, on the basis of the voting, will be Lucas, Havlicek, Russell, Monroe and Robertson. It will be the ninth consecutive All-Star Game for Greer, the Most Valuable Player in the East's 144-124 victory last year.

HONOLULU (AP) - Hula dancers now receive a grass skirt allowance.

A new labor contract covering 150 Waikiki entertainers was signed recently by the American Guild of Variety Artists and representatives of major hotels and nightclubs in Honolulu's Waikiki resort area.

The two-year contract will raise basic wages from 35 to 46 per cent and for the hula dancers will give them an additional allowance to buy tip-leaves to make their grass skirts.

Beamon Not Convinced 29-Foot Long Jump Mark Unbeatable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - What do you do if you're a track athlete who has advanced his event to the year 2,001? If you're Bob Beamon, you try for about 2,069.

When Beamon long jumped 29 feet, 2 1/4 inches at the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, he broke the world record by nearly two feet, a performance considered the greatest in the history of track and field by those who measure such things.

At the time, it was said that the lithe, 22-year-old athlete had set the event ahead by a generation, that probably no one would jump that far again for years, but Beamon disagrees.

"I think I can do it again," he said Thursday as he arrived here for the Examiner All-American Games indoor track and field meet Saturday.

"I thought I could be better. I would like to go about 30 or 31 feet."

Right now, though, he is more interested in pushing his world indoor record of 27-2 1/2 beyond the 28-foot limit.

Beamon said he has not done any training for the long jump since the Olympics, but has played some basketball and may join the Texas-El Paso team for a few games when he enrolls there again later this month.

Beamon said he felt bad about not being nominated for the Sullivan Award, which is annually given by the Amateur Athletic Union to the top amateur athlete of the year.

Committees of the AAU nominate three athletes from various sections of the country and newsmen vote on the final winner on the basis of performance and sportsmanship. Surprise was expressed in some quarters when Beamon, world and Olympic champions Lee Evans and Tommie Smith and football star O.J. Simpson were not nominated.

In New York, Olan Cassell, the AAU's director of track and field, said a mistake had been made and that Beamon definitely was nominated for

Fairmont Moves Up in Small College Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fairmont of West Virginia, which held third place in The Associated Press small college basketball poll by one point last week, has moved up to second by one point.

The Falcons received two first-place votes in the nationwide balloting by 13 sports writers and broadcasters. Their total of 180 points enabled them to replace Trinity of Texas in the runner-up spot by that one point.

The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes and 246 points to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Both Kentucky Wesleyan, last season's NCAA College Division champions, and Fairmont have 8-0 records. Trinity is 7-2.

Kentucky Wesleyan and Trinity were idle last week while Fairmont won its only game from Beckley 91-76.

Ashland of Ohio and Stephen F. Austin climbed one place each to fourth and fifth, respectively, on the strength of 2-0 records in the week which ended last Saturday. Stephen F. Austin also had one first-place vote.

Central State of Ohio also won both its games but dropped from fourth to sixth.

Southwestern Louisiana and Gannon moved into the Top Ten, replacing Cheney, Pa., State and West Virginia State. The Louisiana team, idle last week after beating three major teams the week before, picked up one first-place vote and jumped from 15th to seventh. Gannon jumped from 12th into a tie for eighth with Youngstown State, which had the other first-place vote.

1. Ky. Wesleyan (9) 8-0/246
2. Fairmont W.Va. (2) 8-0/180
3. Trinity, Tex. 7-2/179

Coach Thinks KU Had 12 Players on 3 Other Plays

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) - An down? You feel embarrassed, assistant football coach for You feel responsible. You don't Kansas was quoted today as care what the people in the saying he believes the Jayhawks stands think. You care about had 12 men on the field for three what the players think. That's plays in addition to the one that cost them a 15-14 Orange Bowl defeat by Penn State.

Dave McLain, linebacking coach, was quoted by sportswriter Charlie Smith in today's edition of the Topeka Daily Capital. McLain said he reached his conclusion after watching a video tape replay of the game.

"It's no wonder we were able to stop them for two plays," McLain said. "That 6-3 defense is pretty tough to run against."

Kansas appeared to have the game won, 14-13, when a twopoint conversion attempt by Penn State failed. But Kansas was penalized for having 12 men on the field. Penn State tried again with 15 seconds left. Halfback Bob Campbell of the Nittany Lions slashed into the end zone for two points and the victory.

McLain said this is what happened before the conversion:

Tackles Jim Bailey and Orville Turgeon were sent into the game for Kansas following a 47-yard pass to the three-yard line that set up the touchdown. They were supposed to replace safety Tommy Anderson and linebacker Rick Abernethy.

Anderson left the field. Abernethy did not.

Penn State ran two plays. Then quarterback Chuck Burkhardt skirted end for the touchdown. Counting the touchdown play and the unsuccessful conversion attempt, that made four plays.

The penalty moved the ball from the three to the one and a half yard line. Then Abernethy left the game.

McLain said, "When you go into the game, you're liable to yell 'Abernethy out' from 10 yards away and maybe he didn't hear." Abernethy said later:

"We were in a defense which calls for three linebackers. I counted three heads and decided I was going to stay. Nobody tapped me to come out. How can you live something like this

Community Control Of Public Schools

By HELEN B. SHAFFER
WASHINGTON - Turmoil in New York City over decentralization of the public school system stands as a preview of what may happen in other cities subject to the same pressures for community control. For more than a year the nation's largest city has been beset by teacher strikes, school lockouts, parent boycotts, arrests of administrators, teacher defiance of official orders, public rebellions, and touches of violence.

Nearly all of these troubles have stemmed from conflicts of authority in the experimental operation of three school districts in predominantly nonwhite neighborhoods. The basic dispute is not over decentralization itself. Except for a few dissenters, virtually everyone involved in public education appears to favor decentralization. The sticking point is, rather, how far decentralization should go toward allowing community control of the local school. In short, how much power should a local community have in running its own schools independent of the central authority?

This tinderbox question lies at the core of the New York City crisis and is the one that must be dealt with in other states and cities where pressure for decentralization is growing. Decentralization bills are to come before state legislatures in 1969 in California, Missouri and Texas, as well as New York.

Several cities with large minority populations are considering decentralization, though the events in New York have discouraged speedy action in that direction. Education officials from Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New Orleans, Philadelphia and St. Louis visited New York recently to study its situation in the hope of learning how to avoid similar troubles if they decentralize their school systems.

Detroit has a task force on decentralization which is expected to report in January. Philadelphia has a broad-based study commission on "decentralization and community participation." Washington, D. C., now has two experimental programs in decentralized control, one in a single school, the other in a subdistrict of several schools.

The Woodlawn Experimental Schools Project in Chicago, considered a possible model for the future, offers parents a larger than usual share of authority. The supervisor of schools in Cleveland recently announced that a new office of coordinator would be established to serve as liaison between high school principals and the community. Los Angeles has two community involvement projects, one of them in the predominantly Negro Watts section, the other in a Mexican-American section.

Decentralization is not a new issue in the world of education. But it has gained a new dimension by becoming tied to the revolt of the urban Negro against the status quo. The black militant has thus joined the academic critic in decriing the rigidities of the big-city school system. It is pressure from the urban ghetto which has converted the educators' debate over decentralization into a firebrand in the minorities' struggle for equality. Until recently, decentralization problems chiefly concerned matters of organizational reform. Teachers welcomed it because it was expected to give them more leeway in the practice of their profession. But to members of minority groups, school decentralization meant more than efficient management or teacher freedom.

What the community control advocates want is that those who actually operate the schools in a locality -- the local board, the superintendent, the supervisors, the teachers, etc. -- be answerable directly to the people in the area. To obtain decentralization of this sort it is believed, the community must have the power not only to select its own governing board without interference but also to enforce its decisions on major policy. It was this concept of decentralization that led to the impasse in New York City that now heads for showdown in the New York State Legislature in 1969. The legislature must approve any New York City decentralization plan before it can take final effect.

Programs that look to community involvement or community participation rather than community control of the schools seem to have the best chance of getting acceptance across the nation. Educators are seriously concerned that the schools may become a battleground for local political warfare. The restraints on teaching from narrow local interests can be just as hampering to good teaching as the bureaucratic fumbling of the large centrally-controlled system. The job before the big cities now is to find ways to retain the advantages of size while retaining the values of localism -- to strike a balance between the ideal of community control and the freedom to teach.

POLLY'S POINTERS Suggests Greater Care For Safety of Baby

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I just read a reader's suggestion for pinning a baby's pacifier, with a ribbon through the handle, to the baby clothing. I advise against this as I think baby could choke to death. I recently read of such a case—baby was found dead in bed with the pacifier string wrapped around his neck. Usually the column gives me pleasure but not this one. I also want to warn mothers of the danger of putting baby to bed with a bib tied around his neck. This could get twisted or caught.—MRS. D. M.

DEAR MRS. D. M.—Thank you for your warning as we all like to exercise every care with baby. Our reader, Sharon, suggested this, especially when taking baby out and the pacifier might drop on the floor. A ribbon pinned to the front of a garment should not be long enough to go around baby's neck and only reach to the mouth but mothers will do well to heed your letter and NEVER do this or put it on a ribbon around the neck when baby is in his crib. ONLY when taking him out and when he will be under close supervision.—POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I am a Pointer fan who needs some Pointers on the easiest way to apply decorator burlap to wallpapered walls. I am sure some of the girls have done this and I hope to benefit from their experience.—MRS. J. Q.

DEAR POLLY—I hope my remedy will help Majorette remove the rust her baton left on her white uniform. Make a paste of table salt and lemon juice and rub on the stain. Use the lemon skin for rubbing it in. Place garment in the sun and the rust will vanish. I have used this many times. Of course, this mixture must be rinsed out, and then the garment washed or dry cleaned.—MRS. G. J.M., Jr.

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Majorette whose baton left rust spots on her white uniform. Moisten the stain with oxalic solution (one tablespoon of the crystals to one cup of warm water). If this does not remove the stain, heat the solution and repeat. Or, the crystals might be put directly on the stain after it is moistened with water. Rinse article thoroughly after using. I find this safe for all fabrics except nylon but I would not use it on colors. Also experiment on an inconspicuous spot to see its effect on the material, just as a general precaution.—MRS. C. V. C.

DEAR POLLY—I use a wash cloth sprinkled with scouring powder to wash the ball and tip to my baton. Rinse and wipe dry with a towel. All I ever do to the shaft is to rub it with a towel.—LAURIE

Auto Inspection Program Levels off

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - 1967 law. Despite some backlog in paper work and procuring the necessary equipment, Missouri's automobile safety inspection program appears to be leveling off.

L. E. W. Van Winkle, who heads the safety inspection division of the State Highway Patrol, reported today 2,575 stations have been certified for inspection. That is double the number of stations certified when the program got underway Dec. 1. Applications are also pending on 415 more stations in the state.

There was some fear when the program was implemented that a repair racket would develop. But Van Winkle said the only complaints he has received so far pertain to mechanics failing to fully inspect automobiles.

Missouri newspapers, however, have recorded many complaints from dissatisfied drivers and Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, is reported ready to introduce a bill repealing the Three stations - one each in Dekalb and St. Louis counties and one in the city of St. Louis have had their certificates revoked on the grounds of complaints received by the patrol.

Van Winkle said he expected most of the problems being encountered now will be overcome soon. One of the problems has been in obtaining the necessary equipment for safety inspections.

Van Winkle noted several states have recently inaugurated the program causing a flood of requests for equipment to the only three manufacturers who supply the testing machinery. This has caused a backlog as well as a delay in certifying the stations.

The only other major problem Van Winkle saw was the lack of inspection stations in two counties with a large population of motor vehicles. He singled out Boone County - with 38,000 automobiles - as the "bottleneck" now.

Won't You Step Into My Parlor

THE WALKING STICK. By Winston Graham. Doubleday. $4.95.

Deborah Dainton, 26, member of a well-bred family, works for a large art auction firm in London. She meets Leigh Hartley, a young untalented artist who is not very cooht.

Because she was lamed by polio in her childhood, and walks with a stick, Deborah has had little experience with young men. She is vulnerable to the persistent attentions of Leigh, and gradually allows herself to be drawn into an affair with him.

But Deborah's seduction is only the first chapter in Leigh's campaign. After he has succeeded in getting her to live with him, he patiently works her into the position of providing information about the auction house, its security measures and its treasure vaults.

There is only one reason for gathering that information, of course. Leigh's somewhat shady friends are preparing a coup. The target is a large collection of jewels, about to be put up for sale.

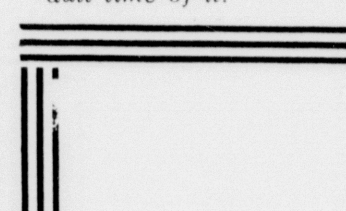

So far as the action is concerned, the raid on the vaults is the climax. But there is more to the story than that.

For besides being a tale of a well-plotted burglary, with the usual trappings of a detective thriller, this novel is a psycho-

Captain H. S. Matthews Ship Celebrates 10th Anniversary

RECONNAISSANCE HEAVY ATTACK Squadron Seven operates the RA5C "Vigilante" manufactured by North American Aviation Co. It is designed for all-weather, high or low altitude tactical reconnaissance, and the delivery of nuclear weapons. Powered by two 17,000-pound thrust engines it will fly better than twice the speed of sound. It is equipped with ultra-modern television bombing and navigation equipment and side-looking radar.

TWO SQUADRONS ABOARD the Independence fly these F4J "Phantom II" jets. The super-sonic "Phantom II" is manufactured by McDonnell Aircraft Co. and flies at a speed better than 1,600-mph. It is equipped to carry all conventional bombs and 2.75 and 5-inch rockets. During air-to-air combat operations it carries the Sparrow III, a semi-active radar guided missile, and the Sidewinder, a heat seeking guided missile.

THE AMMUNITION SHIP USS NITRO (AE-23) cruises 150-feet from the attack carrier USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62), in the Mediterranean Sea, as the NITRO prepares to transfer ammunition to the carrier while both ships maintain a speed of 12 knots.

Captain H.S. Matthews Jr.

As the mid-January wind howled through the vast Brooklyn Naval Shipyard, on the foot of Brooklyn's Sands St., a chilled crowd of spectators witnessed the commissioning ceremony of the fifth U.S. Navy ship to carry the name USS INDEPENDENCE. At exactly 3 pm on January 10, 1959 the 80,000-ton attack aircraft carrier, built by the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was commissioned the USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62).

On the tenth anniversary of the Independence's commissioning ceremony, her crew will honor the carrier's birthday in Palma, Spain. Ship's bakers are providing an enormous cake for the 4,500 men of the Independence. Their Commanding Officer, Captain H.S. Matthews, Jr., will cut and serve the first two pieces. First served will the oldest man aboard and second the youngest. In this way Captain Matthews will publicly honor and recognize two of the Navy's most valuable human assets -- he men tested by years of dedicated service, and the men whose very youth infuses vigor and upon whom the mantle of responsibility for preserving freedom must ultimately rest.

Although the official commissioning ceremony lasted only ten minutes, this even has directly affected the lives of some 25,000 men who have served aboard the Independence during the last ten years, and indirectly influenced the life of every United States citizen.

During her ten years of service in the U.S. Navy's "Attack Carrier Fleets" the Independence has made a combat campaign in Vietnam, participated in a NATO exercise in the Norwegian Sea, completed five Mediterranean cruises and is now almost finished with her sixth deployment to the Mediterranean. On its tenth anniversary the Independence will be in the ninth and final month of the carrier's current operations with the Sixth Fleet forces. The Navy's primary mission has remained the same during the past 192 years that ships named USS Independence have served the U.S. Navy by helping to control the seas. The coming of the atomic age has not changed this concept of the Navy's mission, but has broadened it to include the need to maintain a mobile air strength.

Our attack carriers, like the 1,052-foot Independence, are completely equipped air bases, and for support of any amphibious, land, or air operations. During "brush fire" conflicts, the carriers can quickly supply the amount of offensive power necessary to protect both our allies and ourselves.

It takes an exceptionally strong Naval Officer to fill the shoes as commanding officer of an attack carrier. He not only must be well versed in handling a large vessel, but needs to be a very experienced Navy pilot as temperaments of foreign governments as are land bases in overseas areas.

Its versatility and mobility make the Independence a well. The 47-year old Naval Officer who commands the Independence today is Captain Herbert S. Matthews, Jr., from Sikeston, Mo. The preciseness displayed by Captain Matthews as he issues the endless orders necessary to operate the huge carrier are reflective of his past education. He is a Phi Beta Kappa in mathematics from Tulane University and earned his Naval Aviator's Wings during World War II. During that conflict he was attached to a bombing squadron and flew over fifty combat missions in the European Theater and was awarded the Air Medal. During two tours of duty in Vietnam he was awarded the Bronze Star, Navy Commendation Medal, and the South Vietnam Distinguished Service Medal. He is one of the first Navy pilots to become engaged in jet aircraft operations. During 1946 he became the 115th jet pilot in the Navy while assigned to the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River, Maryland.

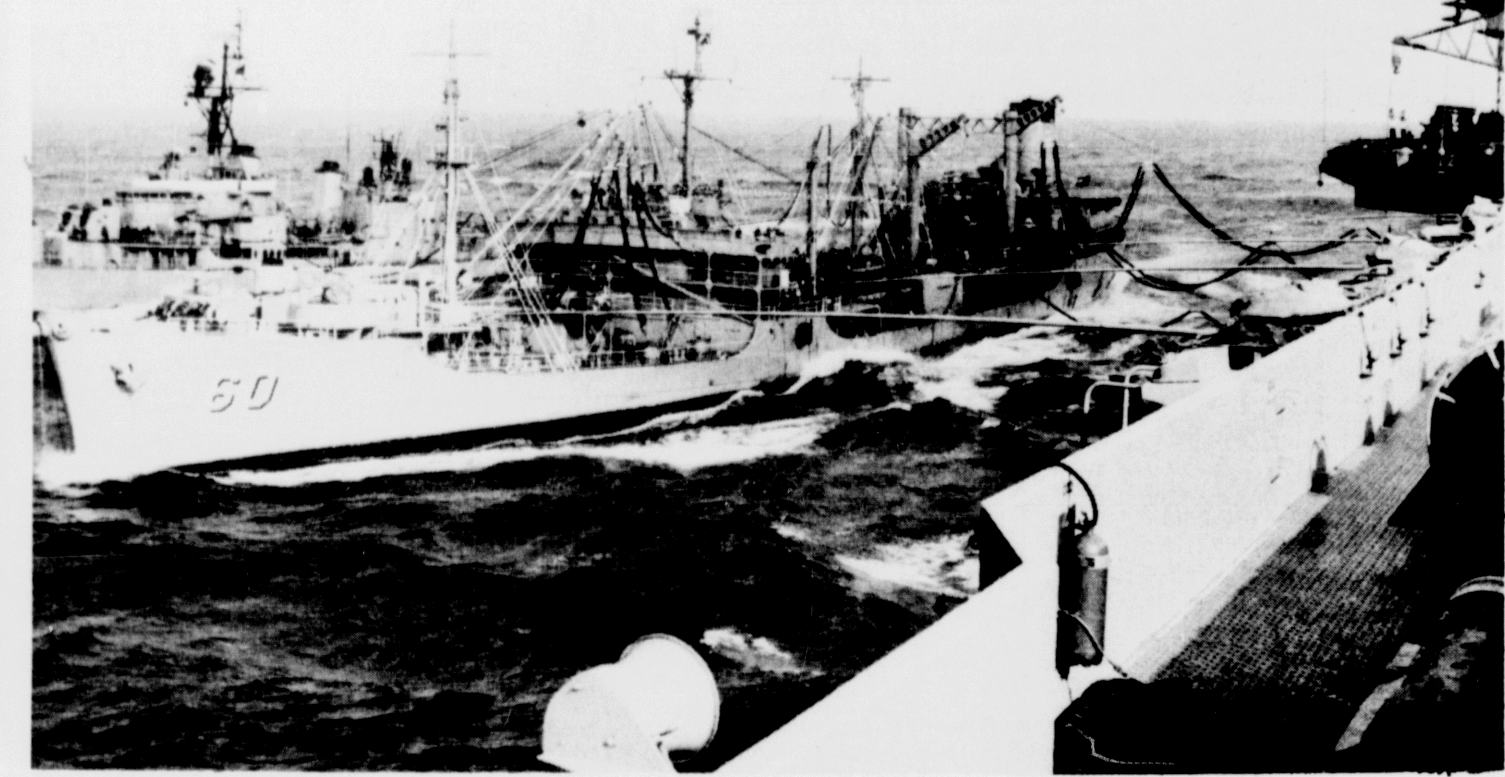

Today's carrier, the USS INDEPENDENCE, is the fifth and mightiest vessel in history to carry the name. When she was commissioned ten years ago, the ship was then the Navy's largest and most modern vessel in service. Her first deployment was with the Sixth Fleet in March 1961 for a seven month Mediterranean cruise. The Independence immediately steamed out of Norfolk in response to the Cuban missile crisis in October 1962, which was followed by other routine operations. The Independence underwent her first extensive up-dating operation in 1964 when she entered the Norfolk Naval Shipyard.

After a short Caribbean tour in 1965 she deployed as the flagship for the Commander of Attack Carrier Striking Forces in the China Sea. From May until Dec. 1965 Independence pilots made over 8,000 air strikes against the Viet Cong. During this far-east deployment the Independence steamed over 68,000-miles-- nearly twice the normal distance covered during a Mediterranean cruise. Her Air Group launched the first successful coordinated strike against a surface-to-air missile site, and completed over 10,000 landings during the seven month deployment.

The Independence spent a few months in Norfolk after the far-east deployment and then departed for another Mediterranean cruise. In Feb. 1967 the ship returned to Norfolk for another extensive overhaul. Her yard period was completed in Nov. 1967.

In January 1968 she left Norfolk for five weeks of refresher training at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, followed by several weeks of carrier qualifications for the pilots off the coast of Florida.

The Independence started her present Mediterranean cruise nine months ago on Apr. 30, 1968. A big event this month for the 4,500 men presently aboard her will be the day that the USS SHANGRI-LA (CVA-38) relieves the Independence from her position in the Sixth Fleet's "Attack Carrier Striking Force," so the big "Indy," as her crew calls her, can start the nine-day voyage home. On the day the Independence ties up to pier 12 at Norfolk Naval Station, sometime in late January 1969, a chilled crowd of several thousands dependents will brave another raw January wind probably just like the day the ship was commissioned. As the weary officers and men pour eagerly down the gangplank into the open arms of their loved ones another chapter in the history of the USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62) will have been completed.

FLEET OILER USS NANTAHALA (A-60) steams alongside the USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62) while she pumps fuel into the attack carrier's 3.8 million gallon storage tank system through large fuel lines draped between the ships.

THE SLEEK 80,000-ton attack carrier Independence cuts its way through the Mediterranean Sea.

AN A4 "SKYHAWK" is readied for launching on the carrier's catapult. It will travel a distance of 275-feet, and reach a speed approaching 150-mph by the time it leaves the flight deck.

Grandmother Makes Wad And Also Gum Bubbles

Dear Ann Landers: Here's one I'll bet you've never had before. What can we do about a 45-year-old woman (mother of three, grandmother of two) who works in an office, makes at least $7,000 a year and is never without a tremendous wad of bubble gum in her mouth?

All day long we listen to snap, crackle and pop. But that's not the worst of it. She makes enormous bubbles, some the size of a volleyball. When outsiders come into the office and see this, they are often too shocked to speak.

This morning I was engrossed in some tedious tabulating and this nut yells, "Help!" I dropped everything and ran to her desk. Apparently one of her larger bubbles had burst. She had gum in her hair, on her glasses, in her beads and even on her earrings. The entire office was disrupted for 15 minutes trying to separate her from the gum with spot remover, ink eraser and lighter fluid.

What can be done about this ridiculous situation? P.S. Her father owns this business. — J.L.K.

Dear J.L.K.: Thanks for the P.S. I would say you also are stuck.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of a normal, healthy, happy, well-adjusted little girl. Lorraine is three years old and as pretty as a picture.

The problem is that whenever I ask her to do something she doesn't want to do, such as take a nap or put her toys away, she becomes very angry and inflicts pain on herself.

This child has banged her head against the floor, bitten herself until her lip bled, and pulled chunks of hair out of her head. Yesterday I left her with a sitter because I had to go see my mother in the hospital. Lorraine scratched her face with a barrette until the blood ran.

Shall I spank her or ignore her? Please advise me. — SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO

Dear San Juan: Your opening sentence contradicts the rest of your letter. A child who bangs her head on the floor, bites her lips till they bleed and pulls chunks of hair out of her head is not well-adjusted.

neither well-adjusted nor happy. She is frustrated, angry, anxious and perhaps emotionally disturbed. Punishment is not the answer. This little girl should be evaluated by a doctor. Ask your pediatrician to direct you.

Confidential to Sock It To Me: You are wasting your time and money. Any similarity between you two is strictly miraculous. Love means confidence, trust and sharing. Your relationship is nowhere.

Confidential to Disappointed In You: Sorry, but I can't print every letter, if you really want help and not just an opportunity to use this column as a family bulletin board, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and you'll receive a personal reply.

"Truth Is Stranger..." as readers will discover in Ann Landers' new book with that title, $4.95 at all bookstores.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Fiance Dies Before Collection

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

With the wolf huffing and puffing at her door Louise managed to defer her financial difficulties by borrowing $5,000 from her good friend Mike. As it developed, however, Mike was more interested in Louise than the money he had loaned her. Consequently, he offered to cancel the debt if she would agree to marry him.

While Louise accepted the offer graciously, she never got to be Mike's bride. Before the church bells could sound, Mike inappropriately died. And, to add to Louise's woes, the administrator of Mike's estate immediately and ungallantly demanded that she repay the $5,000 she had borrowed from Mike.

"I don't have to," answered Louise, all upset. "The debt was cancelled when I agreed to marry Mike."

"Ah! But you never married him," retorted the administrator. "Since Mike never got anything in exchange for his agreeing to wipe out the debt, you still owe it. And, as administrator, it's my job to collect it."

Louise, however, refused to pay up and the administrator sued to collect.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the almost your letter A child who bangs her head on the floor, bites her lips till they bleed and pulls chunks of hair out of her head is not well-adjusted.

What new doctrine is this?
(Mark 1:27)
PRAYER - Holy Father, thank You so much for Christ who has brought to us the gospel of salvation - the gospel which never grows old, but is ever new, as new as tomorrow's newspaper. May it always be new to us. Amen.

"All I can say is it certainly wouldn't have been much of a date without the pizza!"

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Jan. 3, the third day of 1969. There are 362 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1777 George Washington won one of the most brilliant military victories as his hungry and tattered soldiers defeated British regulars in New Jersey at the Battle of Princeton.

On this date: In 1919, after World War I, Herbert Hoover was named head of the relief program for liberated countries of Europe.

In 1935, 90 per cent of the people in the Saar voted for reunion with Germany.

In 1938, the "March of Dimes" campaign to fight polio was organized.

In 1942, the Japanese siege of Bataan began in the Philippines in World War II.

In 1946, a convicted traitor known as Lord Haw Haw, William Joyce, was hanged in Britain.

In 1962, the United States severed diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Ten years ago - Alaska was admitted to the Union as the 49th state.

Five years ago - The United States criticized a Soviet proposal for a world wide non-aggression pact as "not objective."

One year ago - Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., entered the presidential primary election contest in New Hampshire.

Best Friends!

MISS REKA STEWART MRS. JUNE COCKRUM

CHARLESTON — Miss Fredricka "Reka" Stewart, 84, a retired registered nurse, died at 8:45 p.m. Thursday at the Host House in Charleston after an illness of one and one-half years. She was born Oct. 24, 1884 in Cairo, Ill. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart.

She lived in Charleston for the past 12 years with her niece Mrs. Clarence Hargus. She served in World War I as a registered nurse.

Miss Stewart was a member of the Imanuel Lutheran Church of Cairo and the Veterans of World War I Barrieks 191.

Surviving are one niece, Mrs. Clarence Hargus, Charleston and one nephew, James T. Green, Indian Head, Maryland.

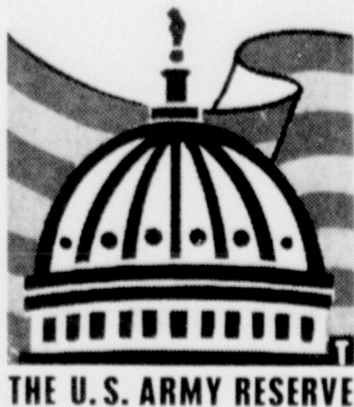

The body is at McKie's Funeral Home in Charleston. It will be moved to the Crain Funeral Home in Cairo, Ill., where services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Gary Freeze, pastor of the Imanuel Lutheran Church of Cairo, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Beechwood Cemetery in Mounds, Ill.

Soviet Overtures Arise in Beirut

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Lebanese government has informed Moscow that Soviet warships will be welcome in Lebanon and told the U.S. 6th Fleet to keep out, newspapers in Beirut said today. But authorities declined to confirm the reports.

The reports said the government told the Soviet Union that Russian ships could visit Beirut if Moscow asked. The Soviet fleet, believed to total about 50 ships in the Mediterranean, has never visited Lebanon.

The right-wing newspapers Al Nahar and Al Jarida said Premier Abdullah Yafi expressed the view that U.S. Navy ships would be unwelcome because of Washington's recent decision to sell 50 Phantom jets to Israel. This would be a reversal of Lebanon's traditional pro-Western policy.

In Cairo, the authoritative newspaper Al Ahran said President Gamal Abdel Nasser has endorsed Jordanian King Hussein's call for an Arab summit meeting.

The paper said Nasser sent Hussein a message signifying agreement.

Arab League sources said, however, that only 6 of the 15 Arab states have so far expressed any enthusiasm for such a meeting. They are Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Sudan, Kuwait and Yemen.

Israeli anger at the world's concern for Lebanon increased. Foreign Minister Abba Eban assailed the U.N. Security Council and the Sephardic chief rabbi criticized Pope Paul VI.

Meanwhile, the once quiet Lebanese-Israeli border erupted again in an artillery duel Thursday night, and the Big Four powers continued talking about a Soviet proposal for joint peace action.

Chief Rabbi Yitzhak Nissim, head of Israel's Sephardic community, criticized the Pope in his message to Lebanon expressing sympathy for the loss of 13 commercial aircraft destroyed by the Israeli commando raid on Beirut airport last Saturday.

In a broadcast over the state radio, Rabbi Nissim said the Pope had kept silent after the Nov. 22 bombing that killed 13 Israelis in a Jerusalem market and after the Dec. 26 Arab attack on an El Al airliner in Athens in which one Israeli died.

Hearnes To Appoint New Judge

NEW MADRID — Jesse Wilkins, county clerk, said today Gov. Warren Hearnes is expected to appoint a person to fill the two-year unexpired term of Magistrate Judge Erie Wright, who died Wednesday in a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Wilkins said the appointment is usually made following the recommendation of the county Democrat Committee.

R. L. Saalwaechter, Portageville, is committee chairman.

Wilkins explained the position has to be filled either by an attorney or a former justice of the peace. An interim judge could be appointed until Hearnes makes his appointment.

Police Report Two Thefts, Two Arrests

C. C. Lancaster, Poplar Bluff, an agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, reported to police Thursday that two large pieces of 12-inch galvanized pipe valued at $140 were taken within the past two weeks from railroad right-of-way across from the Imperial Bowling Lanes.

Ray Patterson, Bell City, reported to police Thursday that four guns were stolen from his house in a break-in Tuesday night. The theft was reported to the sheriff of Stoddard County. Guns taken included a 12 gauge Browning automatic shotgun, a 30.06 Remington rifle, a 410 shotgun and a 22 caliber rifle.

In other activity, Cuma M. Chism, 41, 711 East Gladys, was charged Thursday night with driving while intoxicated. The automobile she was driving was involved in an accident at 8:58 p.m. on East Malone near Dona Street with a car driven by Gary Clark, 37, Monroe, La. No one was injured, police reported.

Glen F. Clark, Sikeston, was charged Thursday with public intoxication.

Civil Defense Program Set

A conference on Civil Defense has been called by Governor Warren E. Hearnes at 7 p.m. Jan. 21, at the community room of the Security National Bank in Sikeston.

The conference program is primarily for the elected governmental officials on the city, county and state levels and other community leaders upon whom the community must rely in an emergency.

The conference is sponsored by the University of Missouri Emergency Preparedness program in cooperation with the State Division of Civil Defense.

Ice Causes Injuries

Icy highways accounted for the only injuries in the area when two cars collided on hill Thursday at 11:10 p.m., on highway 61, three miles south of Jackson.

A 1961 Chrysler, driven by Helen Marie Evans, 34, Illmo, and a 1963 Ford, driven by Russell Clyde Cook Jr., 24, Patton, met head-on on an ice covered hill.

The Evans woman received cuts on her forehead and possible internal injuries. Cook received cuts on his forehead and possible chest injuries.

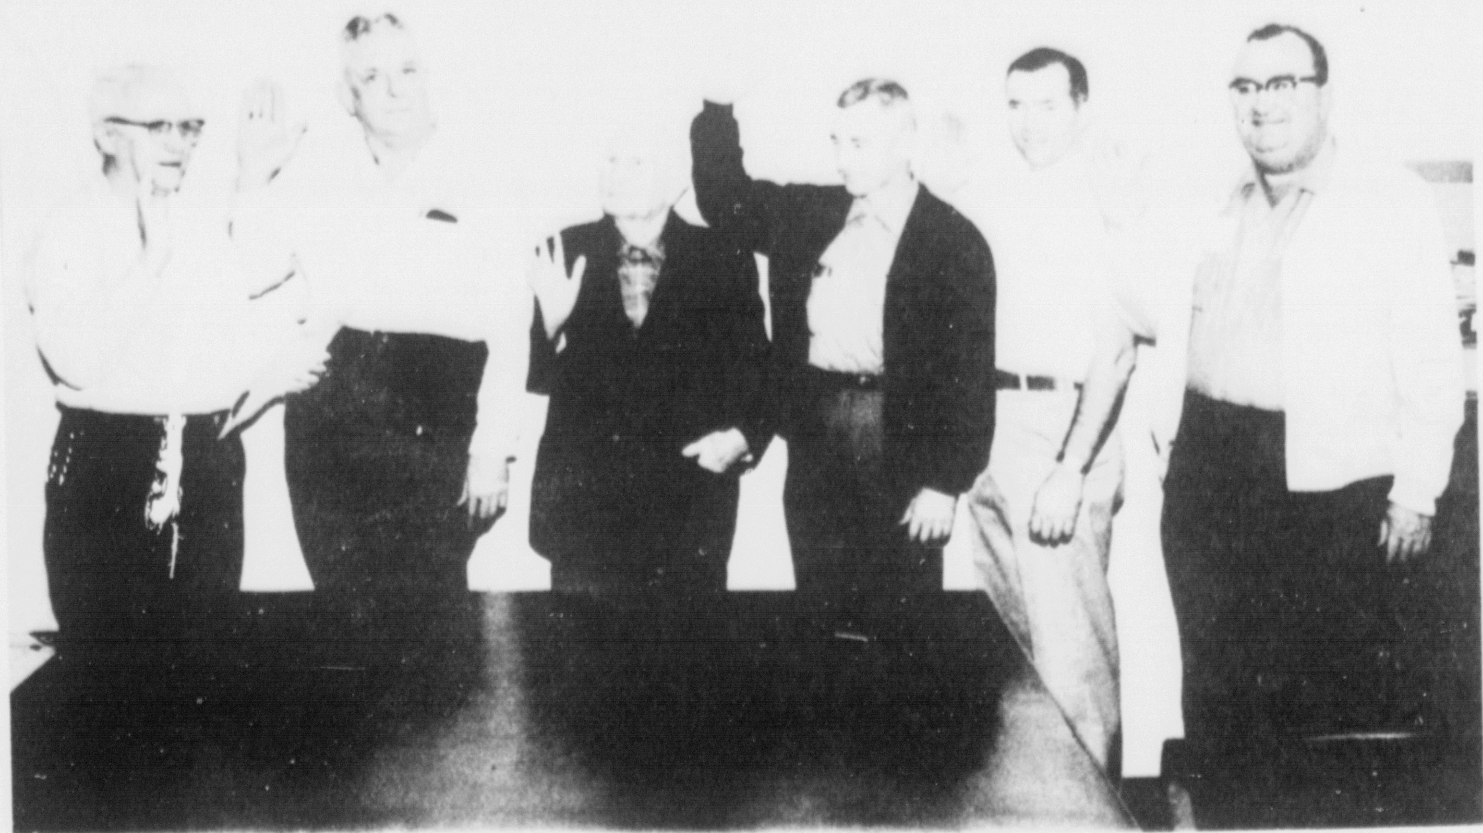

Fire Damages Matthews Home

MATTHEWS—Interior and contents of Mrs. Ruth Frost's home were heavily damaged yesterday when a living room couch caught fire and sent flames up the wall.

Firemen were called about 6 p.m. to extinguish the fire. They reported heavy smoke and water damage.

Mrs. Frost, a widow, has four children.

The house is located near the park at the south edge of Matthews.

JESSE H. WILKINS, New Madrid County Clerk, left, gave the oath of office yesterday to officials elected in November. From left, Wilkins, J. Preston Utterbake, assessor, John H. Calvin, county court judge of the first district, Hal E. Hunter Jr., prosecuting attorney, J. H. Workman Jr., county court judge of the second district, W. L. Ramsey Jr., sheriff. Judge Calvin begins his second term. Judge Workman, his third term, Ramsey, his fourth term, Hunter, his fourth term and Utterbake, his fifth term of office. Other elected officials not shown are Leo Hedgepeth, coroner, W.H. Ice, surveyor and Gene Curtis, public administrator.

Kennedy, Scott Win Senate Whip Posts as 91st Congress Opens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts won his bid to become the Senate's assistant Democratic leader as the 91st Congress opened today.

The Republicans also chose a new man.

Just before Kennedy unseated Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania was chosen by Republicans as assistant minority leader — "whip" — over conservative Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska.

By a 31 to 26 vote of a Democratic caucus, the youngest and only surviving Kennedy brother snatched a victory which could speed his way to the White House.

The House settled its leadership problems Thursday with predictable results as Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeated the unprecedented challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won re-election unopposed as minority leader.

The top Senate posts in each party remained in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who were unopposed.

In an 11th hour challenge, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin announced for the chairmanship of the Republican Policy Committee but lost to Colorado's Gordon Allott.

Although the position has declined in influence in recent years, Robert A. Taft once used it in his climb to Senate power.

With leadership contests and other formalities out of the way, the House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election returns, then turn to an array of issues that could provide early fireworks.

Both houses have before edge in the Senate, said in them a proposal to raise their own pay and the salaries of top federal officers including the President.

The House may have to grapple with the problem of whether to seat New York's Adam Clayton Powell, ousted in 1967 after being accused of misusing federal funds.

President Johnson is expected to press hard for early Senate action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, but that chamber could get bogged down first in the biennial and always controversial move to moderate the filibuster rule that requires a two-third vote to limit debate.

Even the usually routine canvass of presidential returns could provide a spark or two.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., said they will ask Congress Monday to reject a North Carolina electoral vote cast for third party candidate George C. Wallace and award it to Nixon. Nixon carried North Carolina, but because of the switch got only 12 of the state's 13 votes.

The pair said they wanted to "insure the integrity of this election ... and to effectively dramatize the danger of continuing to operate under this outmoded, haphazard and undemocratic method of electing a president."

The Powell issue is the thorniest facing the House. Powell has twice been reelected by his Harlem district since he was denied his seat in the 90th Congress.

Some Republicans are planning to move to seat the New Yorker this time but fine him $40,000, strip him of seniority and censure him. Others said they flatly oppose seating him and it takes only one objection to force a roll call.

Democrats, holding a 243-192 majority in the House and 57-43 in the Senate, said in advance of the 1968 session they would try to co-operate with some comfort in their unexpectedly heavy defeat.

The caucus and leadership adopted some points Udall and others have pressed for.

There will be monthly meetings of the caucus, giving rank and file members a chance to express themselves on policies. An August vacation recess was promised, as well as more definite scheduling of periodical holiday breaks, so that members may make speaking and visiting commitments in their districts.

Committee appointments made by the Democratic committee on committees will be submitted to the full caucus.

House Republicans had only one major leadership contest — for chairman of the House Republican Conference, a post greatly increased in importance while it was held by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin secretary of defense-designate.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois won it, handily defeating Reps. Jackson E. Betts of Ohio and Albert H. Quie of Minnesota.

Senate leaders also have said they expect early action on ratification of the treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons, a piece of business hanging over from the 1968 session.

But opponents of the pact may seek further hearings by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Besides re-electing Ford as minority leader House Republicans again chose Illinois' Leslie Arends as whip.

Democrats returned Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Hale Boggs of Louisiana to the majority leader and whip posts.

The House Democratic Caucus gave McCormack 178 votes to 58 for Udall and four for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., a noncandidate who seconded McCormack's nomination.

The liberal bloc backing the 46-year-old Udall against the 77-year-old McCormack had some comfort in their unexpectedly heavy defeat.

The caucus and leadership adopted some points Udall and others have pressed for.

148 on Hijacked Plane

MIAMI (AP) — A giant Eastern Airlines stretch-jet with 148 persons aboard landed at Havana today under orders of a hijacker who took command of the nonstop New York-Miami flight.

Two Eastern turboprop planes were ordered to the airport at Varadero, Cuba, to retrieve the kidnapped passengers but no time for the flight was set, according to John Graffius, acting area manager for the Federal Aviation Administration.

In Havana, the Swiss Embassy said the passengers spent the night at a nearby deserted airport and would be returned today to U.S. soil. All aboard were reported in good condition.

The hijacked jet, which landed in Havana at 1:05 a.m. EST, was the first plane hijacked to Cuba this year. Last year there were 20 successful hijackings to Cuba, 13 of them from the United States.

Eastern said its DC8-61, largest commercial jetliner in America carrying 140 passengers and eight crew members left New York's Kennedy Airport at 9:52 p.m. Thursday and was due in Miami at 12:30 a.m.

About an hour before Flight 401 was scheduled to land at Miami International Airport, Capt. Dennis Vanhuss radioed the Federal Aviation Administration at Jacksonville, Fla. FAA supervisor Harold Jensen said Vanhuss reported, "I am going to Havana."

The plane at that point was 60 miles east of Jacksonville.

There was no immediate word on what went on aboard the plane.

Most hijackings have featured a man with a gun, who threatened a crew member and ordered the pilot to fly to Havana. None has resisted.

The FAA said the Eastern plane was cleared direct to Cuba soon after the hijacking was reported.

In addition to Vanhuss, the crew included First Officer J.R. Cooper and Second Officer T.F. Walby in the cockpit, all based in New York.

Stewardesses, working out of Miami, were Nancy Wilson, Cathy Geronimo, Linda Abolt, Kathy McCormick and Catherine Tolan.

After landing in Cuba, hijacked planes usually are flown to Miami by the crew while passengers go by bus to Varadero — a three-hour ride — and are picked up there by planes sent from Florida.

The last previous hijacking to Cuba, also an Eastern plane, was on Dec. 19, 1968, when a jet flying nonstop from Philadelphia to Miami was diverted.

On Thursday the FBI at Miami filed a complaint naming Thomas George Washington, 27, of Gary, Ind., as its hijacker.

Second Smokehouse Theft at Charleston

CHARLESTON—A break-in was reported this morning at the Bootheel Smokehouse on East Marshall Street. An undetermined amount of change and soda were reported missing.

Sue Grooves, an employee of the grocery and barbecue stand, noticed the theft today. The burglars apparently had a key for no signs of forceable entry were reported.

A vending machine on the outside of the building had been broken into Wednesday night.

Legislature Largely Same

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The complexion of Missouri's 75th General Assembly will remain much the same as previous legislatures. Once again, the Democrats will hold substantial margins in both houses.

Twenty of the state's 34 senators will be Democrats. In the House the GOP will be outnumbered 109 to 54.

Lawyers, as in the past, will predominate among the professions represented. There will be 20 lawyers in the Senate and 33 in the House. Also in the Senate will be three farmers, one union official, one pipefitter, and three who are retired and list no occupation.

In the House, insurance and real estate brokers run a close second to lawyers, with 28 representatives engaged in either one or both of those activities.

Farmers will have the lowest representation in years in the House. Only 21 legislators list farming as either a full or parttime occupation. The decline in the number of farmers can be attributed in part to redistricting, which gave the urban areas of St. Louis and Kansas City a larger share of the 163 House seats available.

Two House members are auctioneers.

Income Tax Hike Favored

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state Tax Study Commission voted 9-1 Thursday in favor of solving Missouri's money crisis by increasing the state income tax.

It would be an increase of one per cent on the tax levy for individuals and corporations. Individuals now pay on a scale ranging from one per cent to four per cent and corporations on a two per cent scale.

The commission made the recommendation after an hour's closed session. Earlier the commission had heard the state comptroller and budget director, John C. Vaughn, explain the state's financial predicament.

By the 1972-73 fiscal year the state will need $833.7 million in general revenue money to keep present programs and services operating, with present taxes projected at only $688.4 million, Vaughn said.

Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, said a full year's levy of the proposed tax increase would boost tax revenues by $70 million, but if the tax were made effective Jan. 1, 1970, it would produce only $20 million for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

Fewer Cigarettes Puffed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans puffed more than one billion fewer cigarettes last year—the first reduction in domestic cigarette consumption since 1964, the Agriculture Department says.

Officials also predicted no significant smoking gain this year in what they interpreted as a trend due at least partially to increased publicity on smoking and health.

The department estimated domestic cigarette consumption in 1968 at 526.5 billion, compared with 527.8 billion smoked the year before.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
ZAP! UGH! AARGH!

The children's hour arrives earlier in the day than a century ago, when Longfellow described it as falling "Between the dark and the daylight, When the night is beginning to lower." Today, as young parents with television sets know, the children's hour starts at 8 a.m. Saturday morning and lasts until noon or even later. That time period is reserved by the three TV networks for a succession of half-hour cartoon shows with such titles as "Underdog," "Spiderman," and "Batman-Superman Hour."

Two of these shows - NBC's "Birdman" and "Super President" - will be dropped on Saturday, Jan. 4. Both had been criticized as being poorly animated and excessively violent. And neither was particularly popular. Their replacements will be a filmed show about live animals and a children's version of an adult quiz show.

Press critic Ben. H. Bagdikian recently told the President's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence that violence on television and in comic strips "has contributed to the widespread disrespect for law and law enforcement among the young." Comic books are in fact considerably gorier in depicting violence than are TV cartoon shows. But television cartoons make the more vivid impression because they are animated. Even some of the strictly-for-laughes kiddies' cartoons have been attacked as over-violent. Sam Blum, writing in the NEW YORK TIMES MAGAZINE (Dec. 8, 1968), described an episode of "Dugs Bunny-Road Runner" which involved "animals dropping anvils on each other, hitting each other with hammers, firing guns at each other, attempting to poison each other, blowing each other up and tricking each other so that they fall off high places."

Children's cartoon programing seems as subject to changes in audience taste as any other area of television. The recent craze for super-hero and monster cartoons began in the 1966-67 season. Before then, the field had been dominated by the "Bullwinkle" genre. The super-heroes are now being retired, partly because of the general outcry against violence on television. Another reason is that the kids simply were getting sick of them.

Public administrator Robert H. Decker had reason to believe that there is no more independence in politics than there is in jail.

NEWSBEAT
Riesel Only Newsman to Predict Unknown as Nixon's Sec. of Labor

For weeks now, virtually everyone has been playing the name game with President-elect Nixon's cabinet. Long lists of names filled endless stories on just who would be named to the vital policy-making post of Secretary of Labor.

But one name always was missing from the inside stories. It was that of George P. Shultz, who will be Secretary of Labor.

But your columnist Victor Riesel did not play the name game. He was the only correspondent who reported that Prof. Shultz could have the post if he wanted it. And he wanted it.

Victor Riesel did a study in depth on Dean Shultz on Nov. 26. That was a clean national newsbeat by three full weeks, written when virtually all on this beat ignored Mr. Shultz, or had never heard of him.

This is not the first time Mr. Riesel's sources here and abroad and his continent hopping have put him well ahead of the field. Quietly, your columnist Riesel racks up almost a national newsbeat a week. He was weeks ahead, for example, in reporting that Hubert Humphrey had offered the Democratic vice presidential nomination to Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

He was weeks ahead when he filed the inside story of Tom Hayden's plans to disrupt Chicago and the Democratic National Convention. Riesel filed this from Chicago.

He has been weeks ahead on reports of national walkouts.

Sometimes Riesel's newsbeats run months ahead of the field. On Feb. 2, he was the first to report in detail the plans of the management movement to challenge the labor movement. The story has been corroborated by frontpage reports for the good part of the year - and the management movement became the issue in the final hours of the presidential campaign.

Nor is it different on the foreign front. Just to cite an example, among many, there is his report from Rome, filed on July 7. "Insiders expect student-worker riots to sweep Italy this fall," he wrote. And they did, in the past two weeks.

Thus month after month, Victor Riesel is either well ahead of vital news, or right atop it.

What awful stories were told by the whites about Indians and their tomahawks! But have you ever heard the stories the Indians tell about us? They say we robbed them without mercy, shot them down like dogs, etc. There is always plenty of talk about being robbed on both sides.

HOARDING LICENSE PLATES

One of the bugs that has developed in connection with Missouri's new automobile inspection laws grows out of the failure of the patronage-staffed Department of Revenue to adjust to the new reality. The law requires that vehicles must pass safety inspection tests within 30 days before new plates are issued. Persons needing new plates in January, when the law becomes effective, are free to have their cars inspected now, and many are doing so. But the Revenue Department is refusing to sell them the new plates now, holding to the bureaucratic rule that

January plates are sold only in January.

Accordingly, a person who had his car inspected early in December would as a practical matter have only the early part of January to obtain the new plates, or have to face the needless cost and inconvenience of inspection a second time. The Revenue Department ought to sell plates as soon as the vehicles pass the safety test. Automotive safety, not driver frustration, is supposed to be the aim of this whole business.

Only three Presidents have come directly from Congress. They were James A. Garfield and Warren G. Harding, both senators from Ohio, and John F. Kennedy, senator from Massachusetts.

"...A thousand young people across the U.S. were asked: If a disaster struck, what one book would you save? They overwhelmingly answered: 'The Bible.' The Bible received four times as many votes as the two closest runners-up: the dictionary and the novel," remarks Timely Items published by the Public Service Company of Colorado.

After listening to numerous members of the Associated Press at a recent meeting in Kansas City, the consensus seemed to be that an informed public is not likely to tolerate complacency around it for long, especially when it affects security.

Thus, the steadily-growing awareness in the West of the spreading menace of Communist Russia has already generated enough pressure to jolt the NATO leaders into restoring discipline and paying overdue attention to the "cracks and flaws" to the military establishment in their control.

And if you've read the newspapers, you'll note that the alerting of the public to the insidious moves and intrigues of the Soviet Union have aroused howls of anger from Moscow laterly.

Latest expose was the Russian-Algerian conspiracy which deals with allowing a Russian naval base and the installation of rocket pads on Algerian territory. Such reports, said Moscow, were "distorting the peace-loving policy" of the Soviet Union on the Mediterranean.

Missourians should know that only seven per cent of your Christmas Seal dollar goes outside Missouri.

DON'T LET BIG CORPORATION 'PROFITS' FOOL YOU

In practically every labor demand for higher wages these days is the statement, "You can still hold the price level steady by paying our wage increase out of profits." Let's see:

For a company to stay alive and so provide jobs at all it must keep its equipment modern. To do that, the company must earn two times as much profit as before the war, here's why-

First, out of the less than half that's left, the company pays for new machinery it must have to stay alive - machinery at prices made higher by higher and higher wages over past years.

Out of anything the company can keep, it must save for expansion (or else no new jobs can be created) and pay something to the owners, without which the company and its jobs would never have been in existence at all. (Average dividend payments to owners of U. S. companies, by the way, is 34% return... they could make more, with no risk, leaving their money in the bank.)

So when big "profit" figures are displayed in headlines, read the facts in the fine print. Unless profit is 2 times pre-war, the company can't hope to live. And killing companies kills jobs.

It is a sign of extreme youth to want to wear one's best clothes all the time, and of approaching old age to wear old clothes and put new ones away to save them.

If a newspaper, in a death notice, gives the age of the deceased too low, a great many people call attention to it. In the obituary of a Sikeston woman, her age was given as 58. Scores of people the next day stopped reporters to say the woman must have been much older than that. Her age was given by members of her family.

It makes a careless man mad when he loses a thing, and makes a fuss, and a careful person finds the lost article right before his eyes.

A Sikeston woman once gave a party and offered prizes for correct guesses on what it cost her and what her husband said about it.

AN OVERHAUL NEEDED

As one reads of lawlessness and rebellion in colleges and universities throughout the world, including the U.S., one cannot help but wonder what is wrong with the educational system.

Mr. John Chamberlain, one of the outstanding commentators on world affairs, in a recent article, writes on the student trend. He refers to it as an anarchy. Mr. Chamberlain says: "The very fact that the anarchistic impulse can capture so many young U.S. leftists is in itself a commentary on the sort of education they have been getting in our political science courses."

In view of student and other unpunished lawlessness seen in the U.S., one cannot help questioning the character of our educational system on which countless billions of tax dollars are spent by U.S. citizens. It indicates that an overhaul of our

Washington - Merry Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Israel intervenes in U.S. domestic politics; American Jews fear repercussions from Beirut bombing; moderate Arab support for Israel is undermined.

WASHINGTON-A flagrant case of Israeli intrusion into American politics has just come to light. The Israeli consul General in New York, Michael Arnon, arranged to have a special Israeli award given to Hamilton fish, notorious isolationist ex-congressman, at the very time Fish's son, Hamilton Fish, Jr., was running for Congress on the republican ticket in the 28th District of New York.

Since young Fish's margin was close-two per cent over democrat John Dyson-it's possible the Israeli award was the deciding factor in Fish's victory.

The irony is that Ham Fish was a great defender of the Hitler regime when in Congress, and rented his home in Manhattan to the Nazi consul general. He was one of the originators of the house unamerican activities committee, and conducted various witch-hunts against liberals, meanwhile introducing statements in the congressional record favorable to such fascist organizations as the silver shirts.

Fish was also a leader of the America firsters, strongly opposed American involvement in the war against Hitler, voted against the draft and other measures to prepare for the war. Hans Thompson, German Charge D.Affaires in those pre-war years, sent a dispatch to foreign minister Ribbentrop in Berlin describing Fish as giving him great help. The same Thompson described Drew Pearson to Ribbentrop as "one of the negative newspaper influences" as far as Nazi Germany was concerned.

Despite this record, Israeli consul Arnon bypassed the Israeli embassy in Washington and appealed direct to Jerusalem for a special award for Ham Fish. It was okayed by Premier Eshkol. The award was considered so important politically that a special ceremony was staged toward the climax of Ham Fish, Jr.'s, campaign for Congress, at which his father was presented with the award by Consul General Arnon. The two leading republican Jews of New York State, Sen. Jacob Javits and Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, were present to make the occasion more important.

Arnon obviously knew that an Israeli award to Fish would take the sting out of Pro-Nazi criticism, and wanted to help the Republicans get control of Congress. Arnon has now been recalled to Jerusalem where he has been appointed Secretary of the Israeli cabinet-a promotion.

American Jews Worry- Many American Jewish leaders are troubled over Israel's tough retaliatory tactics in the bombing of the Beirut airport.

The latter is recognized as a brilliant and daring piece of commando strategy which emphasized the power of Israel to carry out the old testament doctrine of an eye-for-an-eye punishment for those who attack or sabotage Israel. Yet the long range aftermaths could be serious.

Already there are indications of two important repercussions: 1. The hardening of Anti-Israel opinion in the moderate Arab world.

2. Loss of Israeli goodwill in the United States. If the eye-for-an-eye policy were adopted by Washington, it's pointed out, we would have bombed Jordan in retaliation for the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy by a Jordanian citizen in Los Angeles.

Regarding the first, Lebanon has always been considered one of the more moderate Arab states, in fact the only moderate state on Israel's borders. Lebanon's population is almost 50 per cent Christian, and not as hostile toward the Jews as muslim Arabs.

In fact, Lebanon was believed one of the countries which might line up with President Bourguiba of Tunisia, the Shah of Iran, and King Hussein of Jordan in working out a permanent peace.

However, the commando raid on the Beirut airport has blown all this up in smoke. Nor will it now be possible to get peace support from the other moderate Moslems. The Beirut raid has played right into the hands of the militants. It's considered highly doubtful that President Nasser, who has been much more moderate of late, will continue such a line.

-U.S. Resentment-

In the United States, however, the long range repercussions from the Beirut airport raid may be even more serious; for in the United States there has been a great reservoir of goodwill for Israel without which it would be impossible for Israel to exist.

Not only does Israel's balance of funds come from American Jews, but also, in recent years, from non-Jewish American banks and investors. Non-Jewish money has been raised because the Israeli government has won confidence as a place of sound investment. This can readily be dispelled, however, by a hard-nose policy which kills the chances of peace.

Fortunately, anti-semitism has largely disappeared in the United States except from the right wing. However, American Jewish leaders fear it could come back.

After the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King by a white man in Memphis, the eye-for-an-eye retaliation by a minority of negroes buring such cities as Washington, Baltimore, and Kansas City seriously hurt the negro cause. The people whose businesses were burned in these cities, many of them Jewish, had nothing to do with the murder of Dr. King, yet they were bitter over Negro militant revenge.

Moderate Jews fear that the repercussions from a militant segment of Jews in Israel may likewise hurt not only Israel but other Jews all over the world.

educational program and teaching approach may be needed. As a start, we might teach that the rule of law is the basis of a free society and back it up with a guarantee of punishment of lawbreakers.

NEGOTIATING FROM STRENGTH

Our country's best military men know that we have not done all we could to win the war in Vietnam. It is a mistake to believe that our only alternative is to agree to unacceptable terms, such as a coalition government including the Viet Cong for South Vietnam.

Our negotiators at the "peace talks in Paris should inform the communists that additional military action can be forthcoming if the freedom of South Vietnam is not guaranteed.

Recently the Air Force Association, made up of military experts, presented a report which outlines military alternatives still available to the United States. If these recommendations were followed, the communists would be forced to come to terms which would be acceptable to our South Vietnamese allies.

The Association listed three major steps which our forces in Vietnam could take:

"1. An end to sanctuaries in North Vietnam.

"2. The denial of seaborne imports to North Vietnam by appropriate application of air and naval power.

"3. Coordination of the above with a sustained air and ground offensive against the forces of North Vietnam and those of the Viet Cong."

The second point especially deserves careful consideration by the United States government. As long as the ports of North Vietnam remain open to receive supplies, the communists will be able to carry on the war. A blockade of these ports would involve little loss of life, but would significantly reduce the aggressive capability of the enemy.

If the bombing pause does not soon lead to a just treaty with adequate safeguards for the freedom of South Vietnam, these additional military steps should be taken. HLL

There in the capital of that Socialist nation, Marshal Tito and President Reuther had a long and friendly talk. Both were pleased. Both talked as sophisticated knowledgeable in the ways of old and new movements.

For another six days, Reuther ambled through Yugoslavia's garden spots. On Dec. 18, he flew to the U.S. On the night of Dec. 19, he was in New York. On the morning of the 20th, he spoke long and privately with President-elect Richard Nixon.

It is reported by the usual "authoritative," albeit anonymous, sources that Mr. Nixon and Mr. Reuther did discuss the conversation between the leader of Yugoslavia's government (and League of Communists) and Mr. Reuther. It's all packaged in a silence which is unusually tight, even for the New York skyscraper induction "White House." But here Mr. Nixon is on sensitive eggshells.

Walter Reuther is the first American labor leader to "recognize" Marshal Tito and the Yugoslav union federation. The Yugoslav labor "movement," housed in a fortress-type building on a Belgrade square, is considered by George Meany and the AFL-CIO to be a section of the world Communist organization, even if it is a dissenting one.

Virtually all of America's labor chiefs agree with the implacable George Meany, whose pulsating attacks on Communists' intercontinental operations have made his broad back the target of intense Moscow and Peking propaganda blasts for decades.

Such blasts have come from Marshal Tito's labor movement as well. Belgrade too has been stung by Mr. Meany's frequent charges that Yugoslav unions are agencies to speed up production for the Communist government; and that they have no right to strike; and they are President Tito's domestic and foreign propaganda weapons. Certainly the record reveals that the Belgrade-based union operation has for years lashed bitterly at the U.S. in general and America's Southeast Asia policy in particular.

Any transcript of Yugoslav radio broadcasts or translations of its labor press would show that any of these blasts could have originated in Hanoi. To put it mildly, at least on the record they don't love us, regardless of the AFL-CIO leaders are prepared to fight it out right here, should the new President Nixon contemplate Reuther or anyone else as a conduit to the Yugoslav labor federation.

In absence of the old pro crystal ball caller, the second string deskpot eager will have to take over. The celebrated swami has succumbed to the flu and in his place is his first place flunky, me. For my first act, I'm going to charge in on tonight's games.

Kelly vs. Ilmo-Scott City - Okay, with Kelly making its way to Scott City, they should be pretty tired by the time they get there. I see the Ilmo-Scott City Rams taking this one in a close battle. The scores will be tight, 48-43.

North Pemiscot vs. Richland - Now we come to a real game. This is the kind I hate to predict. North Pemiscot will be going to Essex to meet one of the toughest teams in this area, the Richland Rebels. North Pemiscot has yet to be downed, and I think its record will survive the weekend. The foggy ball shows North Pemiscot coming from behind in the fourth to take the game, 67-64.

Oran vs. St. Henry's - The top team in the area, the Oran Eagles will host St. Henry's of Charleston. Oran will also survive the weekend with a perfect record. The score 88-56. New Madrid vs. Lilbourn - Lilbourn should be the victors of this confrontation, taking the win in stride with the final score, 63-41.

Greenville vs. Broseley - Broseley will have a battle, but it should be able to pull this one out of the fire, 49-42.

Chaffee vs. Advance - Advance should be in top form, recovering loss in the Bloomfield Tournament. As the fog starts to rise in my borrowed crystal ball, I can make out what appears to be a victory for the Advance cagers, final on that, 62-49.

Fist vs. Puxico - Puxico showed what it had in the Bloomfield Tournament, getting into the semi-finals before losing to Sikeston. I can faintly make out a victory for Puxico with a score of what appears to be 39-37. Bernie vs. Woodland - Bernie has been gradually disappearing from the Sikeston Standard Top Ten teams, but I can still distinguish a victory for them in the very near future. The score looks like 59-46.

Holcomb vs. Southland - This is truly a star gazers' guess. My muddled ball sees a victory for Holcomb, and its predicting a score of 48-39.

Gideon vs. Risco - The lights are rapidly fading from the boob tube in my ball, and I'll give this one to you short and sweet. Risco will take it 60-50.

Qulin vs. Zalma - With the lights dim to the point that my ball resembles a third class bar, the final game of the evening is just barely coming through. Qulin will take this one, 57-44.

Should any coach wish to call to complain about the preceding predictions, ask for Ron Jaynes. It was his ball I was using.

The Saturday night games I will leave in the event the old deviner returns to take over the knobs on his crystal ball.

Bullets Land Third Man on All-Star Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets, now leading the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association after finishing at the bottom last season, have placed the maximum three players on the division's team for the All-Star Game at Baltimore Jan. 14.

Forward Gus Johnson of the Bullets, center-forward Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, and guards Hal Greer of Philadelphia and Jon McGlocklin of Milwaukee, were named to the All-Star team today.

They were the selections of the coaches. The first eight players of the 12-man squad were picked by sports writers and sportscasters in the franchise cities.

The last four players for the West's squad will be announced Saturday night.

Originally picked for the East were guard Earl Monroe and center Wes Unseld of Baltimore, forward Jerry Lucas and guard Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, forward John Havlicek and center Bill Russell of Boston, guard Dave Bing of Detroit and forward Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia.

Unseld, a rookie, and Monroe, McGlocklin and Cunningham will play in the All-Star Game for the first time.

The East will be coached by Baltimore's Gene Shue. His starting team, on the basis of the voting, will be Lucas, Havlicek, Russell, Monroe and Robertson.

It will be the ninth consecutive All-Star Game for Greer, the Most Valuable Player in the East's 144-124 victory last year.

FRINGE BENEFIT

HONOLULU (AP) — Hula dancers now receive a grass skirt allowance.

A new labor contract covering 150 Waikiki entertainers was signed recently by the American Guild of Variety Artists and representatives of major hotels and nightclubs in Honolulu's Waikiki resort area.

The two-year contract will raise basic wages from 35 to 46 per cent and for the hula dancers will give them an additional allowance to buy to-leaves to make their grass skirts.

Beamon Not Convinced 29-Foot Long Jump Mark Unbeatable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — What do you do if you're a track athlete who has advanced his event to the year 2,001? If you're Bob Beamon, you try for about 2,069.

When Beamon long jumped 29 feet, 2 1/2 inches at the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, he broke the world record by nearly two feet, a performance considered the greatest in the history of track and field by those who measure such things.

At the time, it was said that the little, 22-year-old athlete had set the event ahead by a generation, that probably no one would jump that far again for years, but Beamon disagrees. "I think I can do it again," he said Thursday as he arrived here for the Examiner All-American Games indoor track and field meet Saturday.

"I thought I could be better. I would like to go about 30 or 31 feet."

Right now, though, he is more interested in pushing his world indoor record of 27'2 1/2 beyond the 28-foot limit.

Beamon said he has not done any training for the long jump since the Olympics, but has played some basketball and may join the Texas-El Paso team for a few games when he enrolls there again later this month.

Beamon said he felt bad about not being nominated for the Sullivan Award, which is annually given by the Amateur Athletic Union to the top amateur athlete of the year.

Committees of the AAU nominate three athletes from various sections of the country and newsmen vote on the final winner on the basis of 1968 performance and sportsmanship.

Surprise was expressed in some quarters when Beamon, world and Olympic champion Lee Evans and Tommie Smith and football star O.J. Simpson were not nominated.

In New York, Olan Cassell, the AAU's director of track and field, said a mistake had been made and that Beamon definitely was nominated for

Fairmont Moves Up in Small College Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fairmont of West Virginia, which held third place in The Associated Press small college basketball poll by one point last week, has moved up to second by one point.

The Falcons received two first-place votes in the nationwide balloting by 13 sports writers and broadcasters. Their total of 180 points enabled them to replace Trinity of Texas in the runner-up spot by that one point.

The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes and 246 points to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Both Kentucky Wesleyan, last season's NCAA College Division champions, and Fairmont have 8-0 records. Trinity is 7-2.

Kentucky Wesleyan and Trinity were idle last week while Fairmont won its only game from Beckley 91-76.

Ashland of Ohio and Stephen F. Austin climbed one place each to fourth and fifth, respectively, on the strength of 2-0 records in the week which ended last Saturday. Stephen F. Austin also had one first-place vote.

Central State of Ohio also won both its games but dropped from fourth to sixth.

Southwestern Louisiana and Gannon moved into the Top Ten, replacing Cheyney, Pa., State and West Virginia State. The Louisiana team, idle last week after beating three major teams the week before, picked up one first-place vote and jumped from 15th to seventh. Gannon jumped from 12th into a tie for eighth with Youngstown State, which had the other first-place vote.

Coach Thinks KU Had 12 Players on 3 Other Plays

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — An assistant football coach for Kansas was quoted today as saying he believes the Jayhawks had 12 men on the field for three plays in addition to the one that cost them a 15-14 Orange Bowl defeat by Penn State.

Dave McLain, linebacking coach, was quoted by sportswriter Charlie Smith in today's edition of the Topeka Daily Capital. McLain said he reached his conclusion after watching a video tape replay of the game.

"It's no wonder we were able to stop them for two plays," McLain said. "That 6-3 defense is pretty tough to run against."

Kansas appeared to have the game won, 14-13, when a twopoint conversion attempt by Penn State failed. But Kansas was penalized for having 12 men on the field. Penn State tried again with 15 seconds left. Halfback Bob Campbell of the Nittany Lions slashed into the end zone for two points and the victory.

McLain said this is what happened before the conversion:

Tackles Jim Bailey and Orville Turgeon were sent into the game for Kansas following a 47-yard pass to the three-yard line that set up the touchdown. They were supposed to replace safety Tommy Anderson and linebacker Rick Abernethy.

Anderson left the field. Abernethy did not.

Penn State ran two plays. Then quarterback Chuck Burkhardt skirted end for the touchdown. Counting the touchdown play and the unsuccessful conversion attempt, that made four plays.

The penalty moved the ball from the three to the one and a half yard line. Then Abernethy left the game.

McLain said, "When you go into the game, you're liable to yell 'Abernethy out' from 10 yards away and maybe he didn't hear." Abernethy said later:

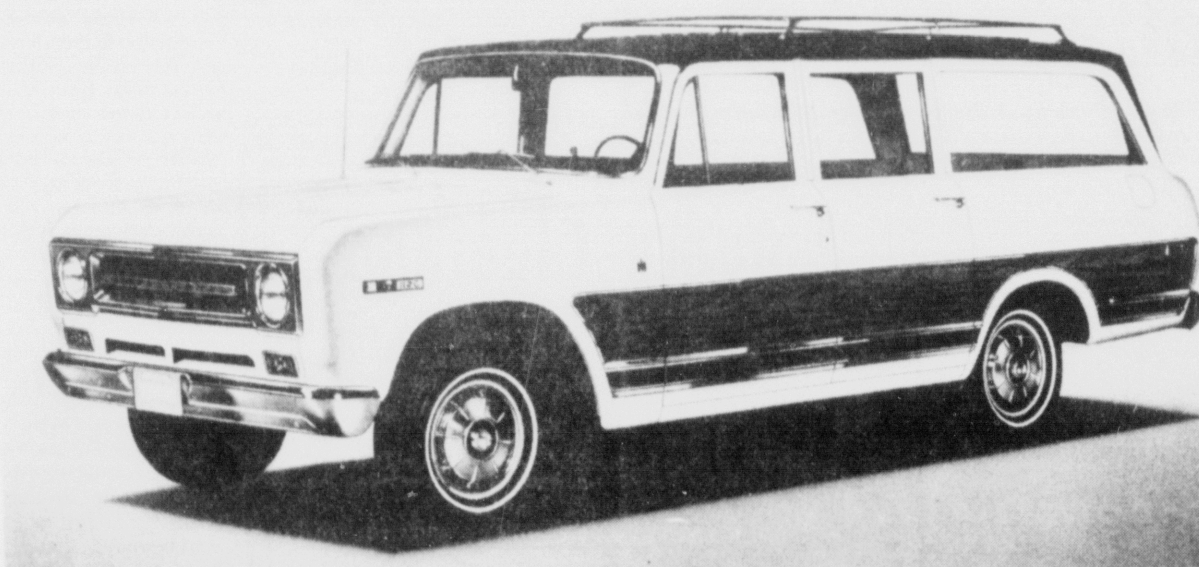

"We were in a defense which calls for three linebackers. I counted three heads and decided I was going to stay. Nobody tapped me to come out. How can you live something like this

Community Control Of Public Schools

By HELEN B. SHAFFER
WASHINGTON - Turmoil in New York City over decentralization of the public school system stands as a preview of what may happen in other cities subject to the same pressures for community control. For more than a year the nation's largest city has been beset by teacher strikes, school lockouts, parent boycotts, arrests of administrators, teacher defiance of official orders, public rebellions, and touches of violence.

Nearly all of these troubles have stemmed from conflicts of authority in the experimental operation of three school districts in predominantly nonwhite neighborhoods. The basic dispute is not over decentralization itself. Except for a few dissenters, virtually everyone involved in public education appears to favor decentralization. The sticking point is, rather, how far decentralization should go toward allowing community control of the local school. In short, how much power should a local community have in running its own schools independent of the central authority?

This tinderbox question lies at the core of the New York City crisis and is the one that must be dealt with in other states and cities where pressure for decentralization is growing. Decentralization bills are to come before state legislatures in 1969 in California, Missouri and Texas, as well as New York.

Several cities with large minority populations are considering decentralization, though the events in New York have discouraged speedy action in that direction. Education officials from Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New Orleans, Philadelphia and St. Louis visited New York recently to study its situation in the hope of learning how to avoid similar troubles if they decentralize their school systems.

Detroit has a task force on decentralization which is expected to report in January. Philadelphia has a broad-based study commission on "decentralization and community participation." Washington, D. C., now has two experimental programs in decentralized control, one in a single school, the other in a subdistrict of several schools.

The Woodlawn Experimental Schools Project in Chicago, considered a possible model for the future, offers parents a larger than usual share of authority. The supervisor of schools in Cleveland recently announced that a new office of coordinator would be established to serve as liaison between high school principals and the community.

Los Angeles has two community involvement projects, one of them in the predominantly Negro Watts section, the other in a Mexican-American section.

Decentralization is not a new issue in the world of education. But it has gained a new dimension by becoming tied to the revolt of the urban Negro against the status quo. The black militant has thus joined the academic critic in decrying the rigidities of the big-city school system. It is pressure from the urban ghetto which has converted the educators' debate over decentralization into a firebrand in the minorities' struggle for equality. Until recently, decentralization problems chiefly concerned matters of organizational reform. Teachers welcomed it because it was expected to give them more leeway in the practice of their profession. But to members of minority groups, school decentralization meant more than efficient management or teacher freedom.

What the community control advocates want is that those who actually operate the schools in a locality — the local board, the superintendent, the supervisors, the teachers, etc. — be answerable directly to the people in the area. To obtain decentralization of this sort it is believed, the community must have the power not only to select its own governing board without interference but also to enforce its decisions on major policy. It was this concept of decentralization that led to the impasse in New York City that now heads for showdown in the New York State Legislature in 1969. The legislature must approve any New York City decentralization plan before it can take final effect.

Programs that look to community involvement or community participation rather than community control of the schools seem to have the best chance of getting acceptance across the nation. Educators are seriously concerned that the schools may become a battleground for local political warfare. The restraints on teaching from narrow local interests can be just as hampering to good teaching as the bureaucratic fumbling of the large centrally-controlled system. The job before the big cities now is to find ways to retain the advantages of size while regaining the values of localism — to strike a balance between the ideal of community control and the freedom to teach.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Suggests Greater Care For Safety of Baby

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I just read a reader's suggestion for pinning a baby's pacifier, with a ribbon through the handle, to the baby clothing. I advise against this as I think baby could choke to death. I recently read of such a case—baby was found dead in bed with the pacifier string wrapped around his neck. Usually the column gives me pleasure but not this one. I also want to warn mothers of the danger of putting baby to bed with a bib tied around his neck. This could get twisted or caught.—MRS. D. M.

DEAR MRS. D. M.—Thank you for your warning as we all like to exercise every care with baby. Our reader, Sharon, suggested this, especially when taking baby out and the pacifier might drop on the floor. A ribbon pinned to the front of a garment should not be long enough to go around baby's neck and only reach to the mouth but mothers will do well to heed your letter and NEVER do this or put it on a ribbon around the neck when baby is in his crib. ONLY when taking him out and when he will be under close supervision.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I am a Pointer fan who needs some Pointers on the easiest way to apply decorator wallpaper to wallpapered walls. I am sure some of the girls have done this and I hope to benefit from their experience.—MRS. J. Q.

DEAR POLLY—I hope my remedy will help Majorette remove the rust her baton left on her white uniform. Make a paste of table salt and lemon juice and rub on the stain. Use the lemon skin for rubbing it in. Place garment in the sun and the rust will vanish. I have used this many times. Of course, this mixture must be rinsed out, and then the garment washed or dry cleaned.—MRS. G. J. M., Jr.

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Majorette whose baton left rust spots on her white uniform. Moistened the stain with oxalic solution (one tablespoon of the crystals to one cup of warm water). If this does not remove the stain, heat the solution and repeat. Or, the crystals might be put directly on the stain after it is moistened with water. Rinse article thoroughly after using. I find this safe for all fabrics except nylon but I would not use it on colors. Also experiment on an inconspicuous spot to see its effect on the material, just as a general precaution.—MRS. C. V. C.

DEAR POLLY—I use a wash cloth sprinkled with scouring powder to wash the ball and tip to my baton. Rinse and wipe dry with a towel. All I ever do to the shaft is to rub it with a towel.—LAURIE

Auto Inspection Program Levels off

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) - 1967 law.

Despite some backlog in paper work and procuring the necessary equipment, Missouri's automobile safety inspection program appears to be leveling off.

L. E. W. Van Winkle, who heads the safety inspection division of the State Highway Patrol, reported today 2,575 stations have been certified for inspection. That is double the number of stations certified when the program got underway Dec. 1. Applications are also pending on 415 more stations in the state.

There was some fear when the program was implemented that a repair racket would develop. But Van Winkle said the only complaints he has received so far pertain to mechanics failing to fully inspect automobiles.

Missouri newspapers, however, have recorded many complaints from dissatisfied drivers and Sen. John E. Downs, D-St. Joseph, is reported ready to introduce a bill repealing the Three stations - one each in Dekalb and St. Louis counties and one in the city of St. Louis have had their certificates revoked on the grounds of complaints received by the patrol.

Van Winkle said he expected most of the problems being encountered now will be overcome soon. One of the problems has been in obtaining the necessary equipment for safety inspections.

Van Winkle noted several states have recently inaugurated the program causing a flood of requests for equipment to the only three manufacturers who supply the testing machinery. This has caused a backlog as well as a delay in certifying the stations.

The only other major problem Van Winkle saw was the lack of inspection stations in two counties with a large population of motor vehicles. He singled out Boone County - with 38,000 automobiles - as the "bottleneck" now.

Won't You Step Into My Parlor

THE WALKING STICK. By Winston Graham. Doubleday. $4.95.

Deborah Dainton, 26, member of a well-bred family, works for a large art auction firm in London. She meets Leigh Hartley, a young talented artist who is not very couch.

Because she was lamed by polio in her childhood, and walks with a stick, Deborah has had little experience with young men. She is vulnerable to the persistent attentions of Leigh, and gradually allows herself to be drawn into an affair with him.

But Deborah's seduction is only the first chapter in Leigh's campaign. After he has succeeded in getting her to live with him, he patiently works her into the position of providing information about the auction house, its security measures and its treasure vaults.

There is only one reason for gathering that information, of course, Leigh's somewhat shady friends are preparing a coup. The target is a large collection of jewels, about to be put up for sale.

So far as the action is concerned, the raid on the vaults is the climax. But there is more to the story than that.

For besides being a tale of a well-plotted burglary, with the usual trappings of a detective thriller, this novel is a psychological study. There is the pattern of the spider and the fly, the pathetic struggle of a naive young woman caught and used by a scheming misfit. The final resolution of the story is a comment on the differences between the well bred and the not so well bred.

RECONNAISSANCE HEAVY ATTACK Squadron Seven operates the RA5C "Vigilante" manufactured by North American Aviation Co. It is designed for all-weather, high or low altitude tactical reconnaissance, and the delivery of nuclear weapons. Powered by two 17,000-hp thrust engines it will fly better than twice the speed of sound. It is equipped with ultra-modern television bombing and navigation equipment and side-looking radar.

TWO SQUADRONS ABOARD the Independence fly these F4J "Phantom II" jets. The super-sonic "Phantom II" is manufactured by McDonnell Aircraft Co. and flies at a speed better than 1,600-mph. It is equipped to carry all conventional bombs and 2.75 and 5-inch rockets. During air-to-air combat operations it carries the Sparrow III, a semi-active radar guided missile, and the Sidewinder, a heat seeking guided missile.

THE AMMUNITION SHIP USS NITRO (AE-23) cruises 150-feet from the attack carrier USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62), in the Mediterranean Sea, as the NITRO prepares to transfer ammunition to the carrier while both ships maintain a speed of 12 knots.

Captain H.S. Matthews Jr.

As the mid-January wind howled through the vast Brooklyn Naval Shipyard, on the foot of Brooklyn's Sands St., a chilled crowd of spectators witnessed the commissioning ceremony of the fifth U.S. Navy ship to carry the name USS INDEPENDENCE. At exactly 3 p.m. on January 10, 1959 the 80,000-ton attack aircraft carrier, built by the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was commissioned the USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62).

On the tenth anniversary of the Independence's commissioning ceremony, her crew will honor the carrier's birthday in Palma, Spain. Ship's bakers are providing an enormous cake for the 4,500 men of the Independence. Their Commanding Officer, Captain H.S. Matthews, Jr., will cut and serve the first two pieces. First served will be the oldest man aboard and second the youngest. In this way Captain Matthews will publicly honor and recognize two of the Navy's most valuable human assets — forces.

The Navy's primary mission has remained the same during the past 192 years that ships named USS Independence have served the U.S. Navy by helping to control the seas. The coming of the atomic age has not changed this concept of the Navy's mission, but has broadened it to include the need to maintain a mobile air strength.

Our attack carriers, like the surface ships and their home yards, and aircraft and their airfields, are completely equipped air bases. However, instead of being a stationary geographic point on the globe the carriers range the oceans of the world, changing their positions hundreds of miles in a single day.

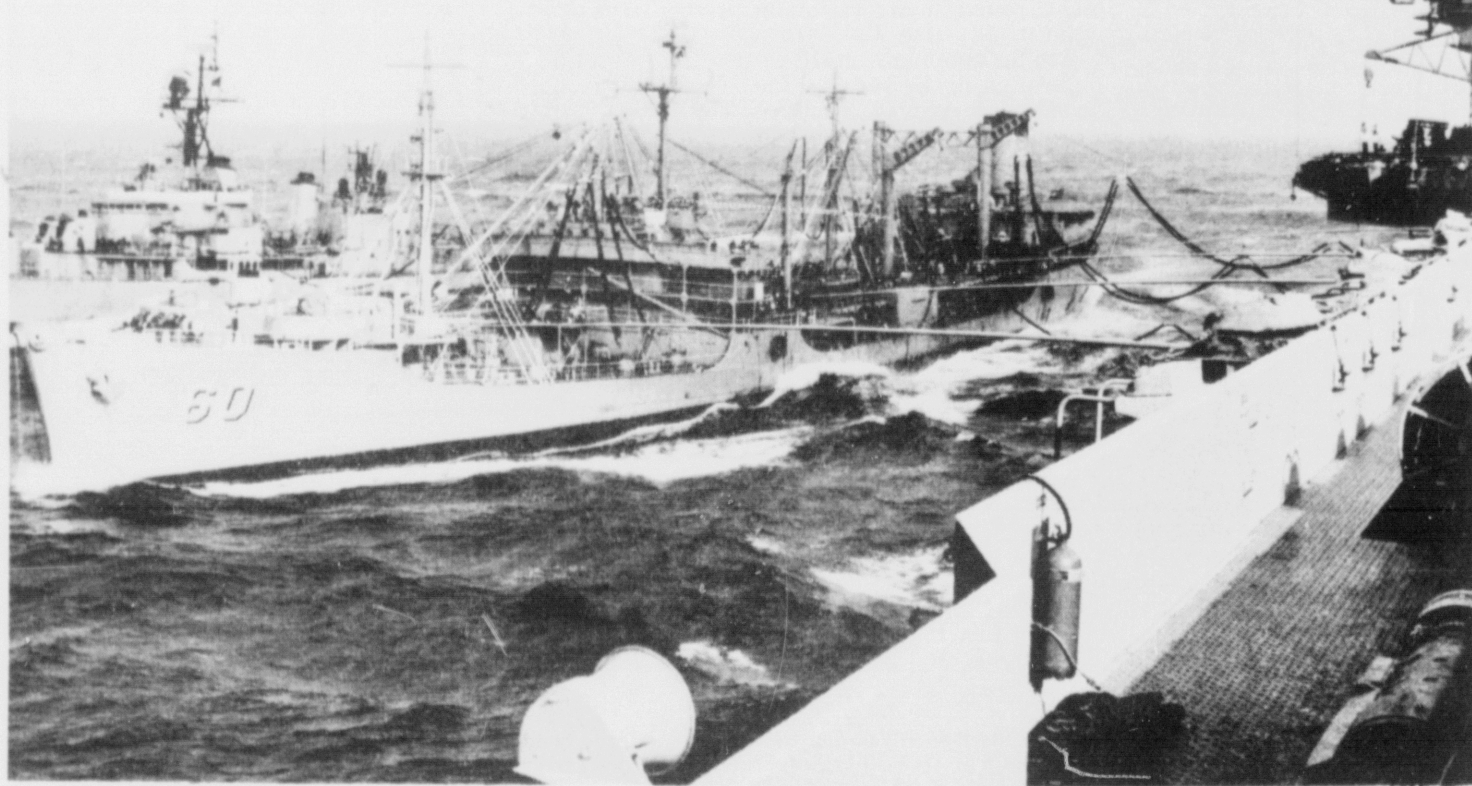

The Independence and her sister carriers allow the Navy to assemble great concentrations of power quickly and to deploy them rapidly, "ready on arrival," exerting continuous mass pressure on an enemy. Then too, the carriers are not dependent upon the political temperaments of foreign governments as are land bases in overseas areas.

Its versatility and mobility make the Independence a well. For aviation fuel the carrier can stay at sea for ninety days without taking on any supplies or fuel, and be used alternately or simultaneously against submarines and their bases, surface ships and their home yards, and aircraft and their airfields, and for support of any amphibious, land, or air operations.

During "brush fire" conflicts, in this era of nuclear stalemate, the carrier can quickly supply the amount of offensive power necessary to protect both our allies and ourselves.

It takes an exceptionally strong Naval Officer to fill the shoes as commanding officer of an attack carrier. He not only must be well versed in handling a large vessel, but needs to be a very experienced Navy pilot as

FLEET OILER USS NANTAHALA (A-60) steams alongside the USS INDEPENDENCE (CVA-62) while she pumps fuel into the attack carrier's 3.8 million gallon storage tank system through large fuel lines draped between the ships.

THE SLEEK 80,000-ton attack carrier Independence cuts its way through the Mediterranean Sea.

AN A4 "SKYHAWK" is readied for launching on the carrier's catapult. It will travel a distance of 275-feet, and reach a speed approaching 150-mph by the time it leaves the flight deck.

The Rosetta stone, which dates back to the time of Ptolemy V about 195 B.C., was found in Egypt by a French officer in 1799. A black basalt slab about 4 feet long and 2½ feet wide, the stone contained three identical inscriptions in Greek, demotic and hieroglyphic, says The World Almanac. By comparing the three inscriptions, Jean Francois Champollion, a young French scholar, succeeded in deciphering the hieroglyphics and thereby opened intensive study of ancient Egypt.

Ann Landers Grandmother Makes Wad And Also Gum Bubbles

Dear Ann Landers: Here's one I'll bet you've never had before. What can we do about a 45-year-old woman (mother of three, grandmother of two) who works in an office, makes at least $7,000 a year and is never without a tremendous wad of bubble gum in her mouth?

All day long we listen to snap, crackle and pop. But that's not the worst of it. She makes enormous bubbles, some the size of a volleyball. When outsiders come into the office and see this, they are often too shocked to speak.

This morning I was engrossed in some tedious tabulating and this nut yelled, "Help!" I dropped everything and ran to her desk. Apparently one of her larger bubbles had burst. She had gum in her hair, on her glasses, in her beads and even on her earrings. The entire office was disrupted for 15 minutes trying to separate her from the gum with spot remover, ink eraser and lighter fluid.

What can be done about this ridiculous situation? P.S. Her father owns this business. — J.L.K.

neither well adjusted nor happy. She is frustrated, angry, anxious and perhaps emotionally disturbed. Punishment is not the answer. This little girl should be evaluated by a doctor. Ask your pediatrician to direct you.

Confidential to Sock It To Me: You are wasting your time and money. Any similarity between love and what goes on between you two is strictly miraculous. Love means confidence, trust and sharing. Your relationship is nowhere.

Confidential to Disappointed In You: Sorry, but I can't print every letter. If you really want help and not just an opportunity to use this column as a family bulletin board, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and you'll receive a personal reply.

"Truth Is Stranger..." as readers will discover in Ann Landers' new book with that title, $4.95 at all bookstores.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear J.L.K.: Thanks for the P.S. I would say you also are stuck.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of a normal, healthy, happy, well-adjusted little girl. Lorraine is three years old and as pretty as a picture.

The problem is that whenever I ask her to do something she doesn't want to do, such as take a nap or put her toys away, she becomes very angry and inflicts pain on herself.

This child has banged her head against the floor, bitten herself until her lip bled, and pulled chunks of hair out of her head. Yesterday I left her with a sitter because I had to go see my mother in the hospital. Lorraine scratched her face with a barrette until the blood ran.

Shall I spank her or ignore her? Please advise me. — SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO

Dear San Juan: Your opening sentence contradicts the rest of your letter. A child who bangs her head on the floor, bites her lips till they bleed and pulls chunks of hair out of her head is

If You Were the Judge

Fiance Dies Before Collection

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

With the wolf huffing and puffing at her door Louise managed to defer her financial difficulties by borrowing $5,000 from her good friend Mike. As it developed, however, Mike was more interested in Louise than the money he had loaned her. Consequently, he offered to cancel the debt if she would agree to marry him.

While Louise accepted the offer graciously, she never got to be Mike's bride. Before the church bells could sound, Mike inappropriately died. And, to add to Louise's woes, the administrator of Mike's estate immediately and ungraciously demanded that she repay the $5,000 she had borrowed from Mike.

"I don't have to," answered Louise, all upset. "The debt was cancelled when I agreed to marry Mike."

"Ah! But you never married him," retorted the administrator. "Since Mike never got anything in exchange for his agreeing to wipe out the debt, you still owe it. And, as administrator, it's my job to collect it."

Louise, however, refused to pay up and the administrator sued to collect.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the almost

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a man promises to marry a woman, her promise is sufficient exchange to wipe out a debt owed to him.

MISS REKA STEWART

CHARLESTON — Miss Fredricka "Reka" Stewart, 84, a retired registered nurse, died at 8:45 p.m. Thursday at the Host House in Charleston after an illness of one and one-half years. She was born Oct. 24, 1884 in Cairo, Ill. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart.

She lived in Charleston for the past 12 years with her niece Mrs. Clarence Hargus. She served in World War I as a registered nurse.

Miss Stewart was a member of the Emanuel Lutheran Church of Cairo and the Veterans of World War I Barriacks 191.

Surviving are one niece, Mrs. Clarence Hargus, Charleston and one nephew, James T. Green, Indian Head, Maryland.

The body is at McKie Funeral Home in Charleston. It will be moved to the Crain Funeral Home in Cairo, Ill., where services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Gary Freeze, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran Church of Cairo, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Beechwood Cemetery in Mounds, Ill.

FRED BEAL

Services for Fred Beal, who died Wednesday, were held today at 1 p.m. in the Jackson Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Don Glover officiating.

Palbearers were James Vanover, Howard Woodall, Quentin Lambert, E. A. Hanks, Eugene Nanney, and Layton Hubbard.

MRS. JUNE COCKRUM

BELL CITY — Mrs. June Eleanor Cockrum, 32, former Bell City resident, died Dec. 27 in an Iowa City, Iowa hospital. She was born June 3, 1936, in Bell City, a daughter of Lemuel R. and Selma Heath, who survive.

Other survivors are her husband, Donald N. Cockrum, a son, Mark Cockrum, and a daughter, Connie Cockrum, all of Iowa City; two sisters, Mrs. Marian Packett, E. St. Louis, Ill., and Mrs. Faye Wilkerson, Bell City; three brothers, Richard L. Heath, Minneola, Fla., Robert Heath, St. Charles, and Roy Heath, New Orleans, La.

Services were in Ft. Dodge, Ia., Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Richard Miller, officiating.

On April 23, 1908, Congress established the Medical Reserve Corps. The U.S. Army Reserve was born. Today over one million Americans are serving their country in the U.S. Army Reserve.
